Rights Bill Fails Indians

VANCOUVER (CP)—The B.C. Court of Appeal decided Tuesday the Canadian Bill of Rights does not override the Indian Act.

The court dismissed an appeal by an Indian convicted of being in possession of liquor away from his reserve. The Indian, Harvey Gonzales of the North Shore reservation, was fined $10 in police court last year.

BILL CITED

The Bill of Rights was cited when the case was taken to the B.C. Supreme Court, where the conviction was upheld, and then to this Court of Appeal.

Appellate Justice C. W. Tysoe in a written judgment handed down Tuesday said:

APPLIED EQUALLY

"Equality before the law, as provided in the Bill of Rights, means the law as it exists shall be applied equally and without fear or favor to all persons to whom it applies."

PARTICULAR GROUP

He added Indians are a particular group who, by the Indian Act, have particular rights, privileges and disabilities. If the Bill of Rights does not affect their rights and privileges it cannot affect their disabilities, such as the law governing liquor.

Happy Bunches

All's well for Alfred Bunch, Salmon Arm, B.C., man and his two small boys after he was accused at Oakland, Calif., of mistreating them by locking them up in his truck while he scrounged for food. Yesterday, a judge lifted charges and complimented Bunch for taking such good care of the boys, Richard, 3, and Allen, 13 months.—(AP Photofax.)

Vicious Gunfight

Two Die In Hail Of Bullets

MONTREAL (CP)—An escaped convict and a provincial policeman were killed Tuesday in a vicious gun battle in Montreal's east end.

One city policeman was paralyzed by a bullet.

Convict Raymond, Rouleau was buying a car at a used car lot when police approached to question him about bonds used to pay for the car.

BULLET IN SPINE

Rouleau ran, and was cornered on a third-floor tenement balcony nearby. In the ensuing gunfight, Constable Roger Foubert, 28, a seven-year veteran of the provincial police, was fatally wounded and Montreal police Sergeant Jean-Paul Vincent was dropped by a bullet in the spine. Rouleau was hit by 16 bullets.

IN THE MIDDLE

Jean-Marie Lebel, a salesman at the used-car lot, was in the middle of the crossfire but got out unhurt.

He was showing Rouleau a car he bought Monday.

"He had paid us with $2,500 in bonds and was to take possession," said Lebel.

BEGAN TO RUN

"I walked with him over to the car. All of a sudden he started running."

"I didn't know what was going on. I turned and saw two policemen coming our way. They pulled out their guns and fired two shots at Rouleau. He pulled out his gun and fired twice at them."

OVER FENCE

Rouleau leaped a fence with the policemen after him.

An official of the car lot said police were called in after the company discovered the bonds were stolen.

FIVE YEARS

Rouleau, 30, was serving five years for attempted armed robbery when he broke out of penitentiary here last November.

Rats Kill Baby

ST. JOHNS, Nfld. (UPI)—A six-month-old boy died yesterday as a result of rat bites he suffered on almost all parts of his body. Also bitten was his identical twin who is in hospital and listed in critical condition.

The babies, Johnny and Ronnie, are the sons of Mr. and Mrs. John O'Brien of St. John's. Officials were unable to determine which of the identical twins was dead.

$6,240,000

Canada to Purchase Special UN Bonds

OTTAWA (CP)—The Canadian government will purchase $6,240,000 of the special $200,000,000 United Nations bond issue designed to offset the UN's deficit, it was announced Tuesday.

Finance Minister Fleming said the next session of Parliament will be asked to authorize Canadian participation in the loan, which will be for 25 years at 2 per cent interest.

The announcement indicated Canada will be taking its share—and no more—of the bond issue. It said the Canadian share of the issue will match the Canadian share of 3.12 per cent of the normal UN budget.

$400,000 Bail Set In Drug Net

Two men arrested in Victoria yesterday in the biggest narcotics roundup in B.C.'s history have been flown to Vancouver where bail of $400,000 was set for eight of 36 others named in a seven-foot-long indictment.

Up to late last night a total of 27 arrests had been made in connection with the case.

IN VANCOUVER

In Vancouver flying squads made up of a combined force of 40 city police and RCMP and one policeman had arrested 23 persons. Two more were in custody in Calgary.

BOTH NEWCOMERS

The men arrested in Victoria were identified as Donald Thompson and Barry Rushworth. RCMP said they were newcomers to the capital. No narcotics were found here.

Those arrested are charged with conspiring together to traffic in illegal drugs.

Two conspiracies are alleged.

The first, said Vancouver special prosecutor Russell Twining, involves 16 of the suspected traffickers already arrested and distribution of 18 ounces of pure heroin worth some $250,000 on the illicit narcotic market.

SMALLER RING

Seven suspected traffickers arrested so far are involved in a smaller ring said to have dealt in heroin caches ranging from 25 to 75 capsules each.

In addition to the conspiracy charges 25 persons have been accused of possession of drugs for the purpose of trafficking.

Most of the arrests took place at 7 a.m. yesterday in 20 widely scattered dwellings in the Greater Vancouver area.

$100,000 BAIL

Magistrate Gordon Scott set bail for Alexander Robert MacDonald, 42, a prospector, and Michael Petrowski, 42, a rooming house operator, at $100,000 each.

The prosecutor described the two as ring leaders in the major conspiracy, along with Ronald Edward Hill, 32, car salesman, who did not ask for bail.

WIFE PLEADS

Hill's wife, Mavis Eileen, 33, charged with him, had bail set at $10,000 after pleading: "We have a baby at home to look after."

Bail for John Pergosh Singh, 32, a trucker, was set at $50,000, the figure Mr. Twining asked for "those in the three cities."

Verdict: Death

Ousted leader of South Korea's military government, Chang Do-Young, today was sentenced to death by revolutionary tribunal for "obstructionism." Former lieutenant general was army chief of staff when soldiers' coup ousted Syngman Rhee last May.

Union Plans Prayers For Raise

MONTREAL (CP)—Members of the Fur Dressers and Dyers Union plan to hold prayer meetings in Montreal, Toronto and Winnipeg today for success in contract negotiations with employers in the three cities.

Near-Fatal Goof Admitted by U.S.

DUNOON, Scotland (UPI)—Capt. Richard Lanning, commander of the Polaris submarine supply boat Proteus, said yesterday "we made a goof" in throwing away a crate of detonators.

The explosives were found by a group of road workers and were nearly thrown on a fire the workmen had built to warm up. But one of the men read the label on the crate and police were notified.

"We made a goof, but it won't happen again," Capt. Lanning said. "We really don't know how it (the crate) got thrown out with the trash."

The Proteus is anchored in nearby Holy Loch.

Mrs. Calabash

Dat's A Secret

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Jimmy Durante refused Tuesday, even under oath, to reveal the identity of Mrs. Calabash.

For years on radio his sign-off was "and good night, Mrs. Calabash, wherever you are."

Tuesday the comedian was on the witness stand in superior court, testifying against two men charged with breaking into his home last July 2.

A lawyer jokingly asked on cross-examination, "who's Mrs. Calabash?"

"Dat's a secret," Durante replied. Neither the lawyer nor the judge pressed the point.

Cigaret Ban Irks Flaming Youth

WINNIPEG (CP)—The Manitoba government has put up "no smoking" signs in its new office building because of girls with "those pretty fluffy sweaters" and "lovely lacquered hairdos," a government official said Monday.

Elliott Wilson, deputy labor minister, said the signs were erected because a man with a cigarette could easily get too close to the girls and set them on fire.

"Really!" exclaimed agriculture department employee Gail Morris, who uses hair spray. "I doubt if I'd catch fire."

Beauty salon operators also took a dim view of the ban.

"It's stupid," said one. "The only time hair spray is inflammable is if you light a match while using the spray. Once it's on your head it won't catch fire."

One male government employee said: "Nonsense. We don't put our cigarettes out on their heads."

Bank Robbery Suspect Aboard Luxury Yacht

MONTREAL (CP)—Montreal police said yesterday Georges Lemay, 36, wanted in connection with a multi-million-dollar bank robbery on the Dominion Day weekend last summer, is believed to be aboard a luxury yacht somewhere off the Florida coast.

Crash Cuts Driver

Leonard Smith, 125 Lyall, suffered a severe head cut and other injuries last night when his car went off Bay Street just west of Point Ellice Bridge and slammed into a stack of lumber.

Smith, alone in the car, was rushed to Royal Jubilee Hospital by city police, called by a passing motorist.

Front end of the car was smashed in by the lumber and a guy wire supporting a telephone pole which the car missed by inches.

Windshield was broken by the driver's head and the steering wheel was badly bent.

U.S. Pressure Charged

Holdup in Laos Aid Called Intolerable

VIENTIANE (Reuters)—A member of the right-wing Laotian government Tuesday took a slap at the United States for "intolerable pressure" in holding up $4,000,000 in aid.

Finance Minister Phouang Phansavath hit out at the U.S. as a government announcement said a decision was likely today on whether Premier Prince Boun Oum would accept an invitation from the 14-power Laos conference to go to Geneva for talks on forming a coalition government.

The finance minister declared "intolerable pressure" was being put on the Vientiane government to turn it away "from its duty and dignity."

His remarks were an obvious reference to the $4,000,000. The U.S. has been depositing that amount each month to guarantee convertibility of Laotian currency but the state department announced two days ago that the January's cheque was being withheld temporarily.

Crack U.K. Group Now in Viet Nam

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A crack British anti-guerrilla mission has joined the American military group training South Viet Nam troops to fight Communist infiltration and terror, U.S. officials said yesterday.

The British mission so far consists only of seven officers. It is headed by Brigadier R. G. K. Thompson, who took part in the lengthy but successful campaign to rid Malaya of Red terrorists.

At the same time, officials disclosed that U.S. military advisers and trainers are now operating with South Viet Nam battalions and eventually may be placed with company units.

'Copter Saves 28 Seamen

HALIFAX (CP)—Twenty-eight weary seamen taken off the freighter Suerte by helicopters collapsed into beds at a hotel here Tuesday night, almost 24 hours after the ship grounded on a coral reef about 15 miles east of here.

In Jet Bomber Cockpit

Darling, Your Engine's on Fire

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Lt. Col. Henry Deuschendorf and his crew were bringing their eightjet B-58 bomber down at Carswell, Texas, Air Force base.

Suddenly a woman's low, husky voice whispered a warning in his ear. He looked, and sure enough, two engines had flamed out.

His crew heard the warnings in time to trim the ship properly for the landing only minutes ahead. A possible accident was averted.

The voice came from a black box in the bomber's instrument panel.

The eight-pound box, a miniature tape recorder, was hooked up with the panels system of warning lights. When the engines flamed out, the box began playing a recording of the voice of Gina Drazin, a pretty secretary in the Northrop Corporation plant where the box was made.

Why wasn't a man's voice used?

The voice warning system is being installed in all B-58 bombers because pilot attention can be diverted from the panel lights by a number of emergencies. He may overlook visual signals but tests show pilot response to Gina's dulcet tones is immediate.

CHARLIE AND FRIEND

Cheeky Mr. Meeks Meets President

COLUMBUS, Ohio—Charles Meeks told how he crashed the gate to sit at the speaker's table when President Kennedy spoke here.

Meeks, 47, said he "just walked in" for the $100 a plate dinner, armed with a pocketful of Kennedy campaign buttons, "shook hands with the president twice," got his autograph, sat at the table within 20 feet of Kennedy and then had his picture taken with him.

Meeks said he went to the Fairgrounds building where Kennedy spoke at a dinner honoring Gen. Michael D'Iselle. "If anybody stopped me I was going to say I was told to bring the buttons," he said.

"I saw an empty chair at the speaker's table and sat down. I was among the first to stand up and meet the president when he came to the table." Meeks is a local union official.

HOLLYWOOD—Frank Sinatra announced he will marry red-haired dancer Juliet Prowse "in the near future."

Gizenga Losing Hold Of Secession Party As Friends Defect

LEOPOLDVILLE (AP—Reuters)—Antoine Gizenga's most influential party colleagues walked out on him Tuesday, further weakening the support that once made him a power as the head of the Communist-endorsed regime at Stanleyville, Oriental province.

The self-proclaimed political heir to former premier Patrice Lumumba arrived: faced the possibility of ouster from his job as deputy premier in the central government and possible arrest as a result of a demand by the Congo parliament Monday he return to Leopoldville by yesterday to defend himself against charges of secession.

Felicien Kimvay announced the defection of the strongest wing of Lumumba's former political movement, the African Solidarity party. Kimvay, vice president of the party, said Gizenga is no longer president of the party because he in effect resigned to accept leadership of another movement.

This statement referred to Gizenga's call for a convention of Panulu, a new Lumumbist party. The convention never met and the new party never got off the ground.

Gizenga's position has steadily deteriorated since last summer when parliament confirmed Premier Cyrille Adoula as head of a unified government. Gizenga was made a deputy premier.

The departure of diplomats of the Soviet bloc has further isolated him.

Katanga President Moise Tshombe's agreement with Adoula to end the province's secession, though not yet implemented, apparently has deprived Gizenga of his most potent issue to use the Katanga secession to overthrow the central government and to declare himself the only leader capable of unifying the Congo.

Rail Crash Death Toll Reaches 91 in Holland

HARMELEN, Holland (UPI)—Dutch railway officials yesterday set at 91 the "probably final" death toll in the worst train disaster in Holland's history.

But one spokesman said several persons believed to have been aboard the train were missing and the definite figures may never be known.

"It is virtually impossible to identify the remains which are left in the morgue," he added. "We can't even say how many persons they belonged to."

Queen Juliana broke off a holiday in Austria to hurry home to join in the nationwide mourning and special religious services for the victims of the collision at Harmelen.

Pope John expressed his "profound grief" over the tragedy to the relatives of the men, women and children killed in the crash between two crowded passenger trains at a railway crossing junction during a heavy fog.

BONN (Reuters—UPI)—West Germany agreed Tuesday to buy more British armaments to offset the drain on Britain's foreign currency caused by maintaining troops in West Germany.

The agreement was announced in a communique issued after a day of talks between Chancellor Adenauer and Prime Minister Macmillan which also covered the Berlin crisis and the European Common Market.

The communique said Adenauer suggested increased arms purchases "on a considerable scale" but gave no indication whether the offer met British hopes of covering half of the $200,000,000 annual troop costs.

A new arms committee comprising junior ministers and senior officials from the two countries, will hold its first meeting in Bonn Jan. 22.

EXPRESSED HOPES
The communique also said Macmillan and Adenauer expressed hopes negotiations soon will lead to creation of a more comprehensive European Common Market including Britain. Macmillan stressed Britain must protect the interests of Commonwealth countries and its partners in the European Free Trade Association it added.

AGREED ON TALKS
West Germany and Britain also agreed yesterday to continue Western allied probing talks in Moscow on the Berlin problem after Bonn officials rejected a new Soviet attempt to drive a wedge between the West Germans and their NATO allies.

BEGUN LAST WEEK
The communique said the Moscow exploratory talks began last week by U.S. ambassador Llewellyn Thompson should continue in an effort to find out whether a basis exists for formal East-West negotiations in Berlin.

Meanwhile the United States ignored Communist threats and rolled a new convoy of American troops and vehicles along the 110-mile

Reds Promise Plane's Release

BELGRADE (AP)—The Russians promised Tuesday quick release of a forced down Belgian airliner but in a protest to Belgium charged the plane violated Soviet air space.

The Belgium embassy said the Russian reported the plane was forced down at Grozny—175 miles north of Yerevan, the Soviet border town where the Belgians say Soviet fighters made the airliner land Monday.

The Soviet foreign ministry said there were 18 passengers and eight crew members aboard. All were safe and were staying at a hotel in Grozny. Sabena, the Belgian airline, said the plane carried 19 passengers and eight crew members. Three passengers are Americans. Sabena said an infant was aboard and may not have been counted by the Russians.

The Sabena agent in Moscow said plans are being made to bring the passengers to Moscow from where they will be flown to the West.

The plane was flying from Tehran to Istanbul on a course that carried it close to the Soviet frontier.

A Good Start

THE NEW MAYOR of Victoria and the new reeve of Saanich have equally started the year's work well by realistically assessing the needs and problems of their respective areas and laying out sensible programs of action which bespeak keen and business-like leadership.

Both Mayor R. B. Wilson and Reeve Stanley Murphy were elected with such strong support from the voters that if their councils are sensitive to public opinion they will give these programs full, energetic and sympathetic attention.

Not the least of the proposals in the inaugural addresses of the two leaders was that the provincial government be asked to institute a new, formal study of metropolitan government or amalgamation for Greater Victoria, which possibly could lead to referendum being ordered in each municipality.

Reeve Murphy in particular appears to be thinking in terms of "metro," possibly the less desirable step because it would add a new level of government, a super-council, to the civil scene while leaving all the present councils in existence. The relative advantages and disadvantages of methods of integration, however, certainly could be expected to emerge from the study the mayor and reeve have proposed, and would shape the recommendations ensuing.

The request for a government-directed study in any event is worthy of favor and obviously, from the results of the December elections, has the support of the majority of voters in Victoria and Saanich.

Another suggestion by Mayor Wilson, the integration of Greater Victoria's four municipal police departments, merits more than the brush-off it quickly received from the reeve of Oak Bay and Esquimalt, appearing to offer the advantages of greater efficiency and economy to the whole metropolitan area. But as Reeve Murphy has observed, integration of the police forces would be studied as part of the general unification survey; little would be lost by delaying a decision pending the results.

The mayor and the reeve have outlined a busy year for their councils, a year that could be of far-reaching consequence. Their attitude matches the mood of the people, from the evidence at the polls, and it is to be hoped that all the aldermen and councillors will find their progressive spirit contagious.

Rose-Tinted Glasses

IN SPEAKING to a large crowd of Ohio Democratic Party fund-raisers Saturday night, President Kennedy summed up the urge of again donning the rose-tinted glasses he last wore prior to his inauguration a year ago this month.

Through them he saw, as he had in his halcyon pre-White House days, a world very much to his liking, wherein the West stood strong, united and free, and the Communist empire tottered on the brink of immediate collapse.

Dismissing for the happy moment the bitter memories of his first eleven months in office, the young president optimistically stacked the future in favor of the Western alliance.

Pausing only briefly for a quick glance behind him in order to enhance his vision of things ahead, he told his listeners that the past 18 months had brought about the beginning of the disintegration of the Communist bloc. And he added, while all this was going on, the West was gaining in strength.

Hurling Mr. Khrushchev's predictions of Western separatism to the winds, the president avowed that the free world had received its "greatest impetus toward unity in history."

Such brave tidings should bring much joy to those who hear them. But Mr. Kennedy should be told that rose-colored glasses can be dangerous things—particularly if they tend to obscure fact.

Neither Mr. Kennedy nor the other Western leaders should yet be allowed to forget their setbacks at the hands of the Communists during the past twelve months. Cuba, Viet Nam, and Berlin are names to be remembered and from which valuable lessons may be drawn. They should not be ignored.

Nor should the West pretend to itself that its alliance has not been weakened through recent events involving its member nations of France, Belgium, Holland and Portugal.

It may be said that it is wrong to take too pessimistic a view of things. However, it is equally wrong to be over-optimistic when what is needed is simple realism.

This is precisely what Mr. Kennedy's Saturday night speech did not contain. His words, in fact, were sadly reminiscent of Prime Minister Harold Macmillan's now infamous statement that Britons "never had it so good" a few short months before he was forced to announce that the United Kingdom faced grave economic problems.

The Rules Rebel

ONE MIGHT think that working to the rule book was the very thing to promote efficiency and speedy operation. The current British postal dilemma indicates this is not necessarily so. In fact the opposite result is very much in evidence.

Millions of letters and postal packets are piling up all over the country, simply because postal workers are following instructions to the meticulous limit. At the moment the situation is chaotic, with sorting and mail deliveries days late and falling steadily behind.

This follows a "work to rule" policy adopted by postal workers stymied in their claims for wage increases by the "pay pause" recently invoked by the government. The unions affirm it is not a "go slow" rebuttal but simply a strict adherence to the rules.

For example a letter to a cabinet minister was not delivered because he had moved to another address, even though it was known where he was staying. The rules call for such letters to be marked "not at this address" and returned to the dead-letter office.

One obvious inference is that in the past postal rules have been deliberately ignored with official blessing. Another is that they could not have been framed in the first instance properly to expedite the handling and delivery of mail. It is a case of the rule book rebelling against its authors.

Strangely perhaps, no one has suggested that the rules be changed to conform with what patently is needed to ensure the most efficient methods of postal operation.

Canadians whose Old Country mail is delayed these days can reflect on the irony of rule books which when strictly applied defeat their own purpose.

Thinking Aloud

... of shoes, and ships, and scaling woz...

By TOM TAYLOR

I WAS reading somewhere over the weekend about two brothers each seven feet or more, high-rise specimens of the human race, as it were. Strangely enough my mind related them to a small dog whose nose is perhaps a foot from the ground; each species must have a different outlook on life from my own. At least it is not on the same level.

I come of a race which although producing in its turn some tall men has until recently anyway been noted more for its modesty in the matter of height. Somewhere halfway between the tall and the short has been the criterion. But the alchemy of the twentieth century is beginning to take effect among them also.

If I am to believe the evidence of the medieval suits of armor that stand in museums the great heroes when knight-hood was in flower were in reality quite smallish chaps which adds to the wonder of the great swords they allegedly swung. Perhaps the mighty Excalibur itself was not so mighty after all. And if modern man is several inches taller than the one-time wearers of these extant suits of armor, possibly man in the beginning of things was not much more than a pygmy. It would seem at any rate that as the centuries roll on mankind has increased in height to keep pace with them.

Not being notably tall myself I am apt to be amazed at the North American vintages of human height. What ever alchemy is at work elsewhere seems to operate on an overtime basis on this continent. I will admit my ego suffers severely. So many youngsters of my acquaintance, scarcely into their teens, can already look me levelly in the eye, and I tremble to think what a few years hence has in store. Assuredly they will give me a severe crack in the neck if I am to keep chummy with them. And how can one speak as an elder if one has to look up instead of down?

In some other respects the dice is being loaded against the small or moderate man. Only when he goes to bed at night can he contemplate his size with equanimity; he can even smile to himself as he thinks of the over-tall person brushing his toes against the foot of the bed. That is perhaps small consolation however.

He sees around him the high rise giants who monopolize those virile sports of basketball and football, for instance, wherein the ordinary sized athlete doesn't have a chance. It makes him wonder why size instead of skill should be at such a premium. A game between teams of five-foot eighters weighing 160 pounds apiece, say, should be equally attractive to one embracing nothing but 220 pounders standing well over six feet. Indeed it should be much more lively for the smaller men should be more flexible and active.

This is one realm wherein the thesis of good gear in small build finds no favor, although happily this high-rise preference does not spread itself over all other realms. Yet undeniably men are growing taller with each generation and to one of my medium inches this is a blow to one's self-esteem. True enough some great men of the past were anything but large-size. Napoleon, Nelson, and maybe the fabled King Arthur himself, for example, but when one cannot hope to exhibit the magic of this trio one rather feels that the world is being unfair.

It is then that one wishes, wistfully, that one could be tall, lithe and handsome, and get to know what his surroundings look like when viewed from a pedestal of six feet one or thereabouts. That would be tall enough to give the other chap a crack in the neck and not oneself. Ah well, as I say, at least I don't stub my toes when I bed.

Letter to the Editor

Apparitions

I write to express my profound annoyance at what, in my opinion, is probably one of the sneakiest tricks pulled on the local populace for many years.

Under the guise of the provision of "attractive candelabra" as part of the centennial illuminations, the special lighting committee (whose chairman, by extraordinary coincidence, is a known opponent of cluster lights) has, in effect, done away with the most famous ornaments of this city, at least for centennial year.

During past years, our city fathers have successfully resisted repeated attempts to remove our internationally known cluster lights. In my view, the apparitions, which are now to be appended to the lamp standards, merely serve to transform them from instruments of elegance and ornament to cheap and hideous dime-store-type light fixtures.

Six lamps have already been ruined—let's stop this idiotic action before the other ninety-four are similarly treated!

ERIC CHARMAN.

Illegal Strike, Says Hillcrest

DUNCAN—As 70 Hillcrest Lumber Co. loggers missed their seventh consecutive working day yesterday since the firm ended a free bus service Jan. 2, a company spokesman branded the act an "illegal strike."

The IWA, as it has done since the service was cancelled, emphatically denied the men's action was a strike.

Hillcrest president Hector Stone said the IWA is abrogating terms of a master agreement with his firm.

"Some employees of our logging camp are still refusing in concert to report for work in accordance with instructions in an effort to force us to bones them with free bus transportation. This without question is an illegal strike."

The question of bonusing part of the crew with free bus transportation is not a term of the collective agreement signed between this company and Local 1180 IWA. In no way does this agreement require us to negotiate matters of this kind."

He said the firm has still reached no decision on whether to fire the men or deprive them of seniority.

The company is continuing logging operations with a crew of about 30 loggers who live near Mesachie Lake and who are not involved in the bus service dispute.

The Hillcrest bus, which operated for some 20 years between the Duncan area and the company's main camp 23 miles away, was taken out of service at the beginning of this year following notification by the firm last November.

The company said the $6,000 a year service was suspended as an economy measure.

The IWA maintains the service was a condition of employment for the men who used it and lays the responsibility for the present situation with the company.

Local 1180 president Weldon

Jubenville yesterday reported morale among the 70 idle men as "extremely high" and an IWA spokesman said an emergency fund has drawn "excellent response."

Mr. Jubenville denied Mr. Stone's allegation that the action of the 70 constitutes a strike.

Yesterday the men again went to bus pick-up points in time to get to work, but returned when the bus failed to arrive.

B.C. IWA president Joe Morris said the type of free transportation enjoyed by the Hillcrest crew up to Jan. 2 was used by 1,000 loggers throughout B.C.

Food, Housing, Health Push Up Living Costs

OTTAWA (UPI)—Higher food, housing and health care prices helped push Canadian living costs up slightly between November and December.

The consumer price index was 129.8 in December, compared with 129.7 the previous month.

Green Declares:

Neutral Policy Bad for Morale

VANCOUVER (CPI)—Enter-take for Canada to adopt a policy of neutrality.

"We have a maximum of friends now," Mr. Green said Tuesday at a public meeting at UBC. "We wouldn't gain any by being completely neutral. It would damage the morale and the character of the Canadian people."

"We must take our stand on each problem and stick with it," the minister said.

He said further Canada stopped supplying military aid to Portugal 3½ years ago because Canada did not agree with Portugal's stand that Angola was an integral part of Portugal.

Asked why Canada opposed Britain's entry into the European "common market," Mr. Green said Canada has "an awful lot at stake" in the British move. Britain might have to modify its foreign policy to fit in with that of France, Germany and others.

Major Changes Made

Broad Sweep by Mayor Revamps Committees

Only three aldermen escaped unscathed in a radical and sweeping reorganization of city council committees announced this week by Mayor R. B. Wilson.

They were the three senior aldermen: Arthur Dowell, Austin Curtis and Michael Mooney. All other aldermen had their duties and responsibilities altered.

JOINS BOTH GROUPS

Major change laid down by the new mayor was in the grouping of committees. In place of three groups, Mayor Wilson made two groups — Group A and Group B.

And Mayor Wilson made himself a member of both groups so he can familiarize himself with all aspects of council business as quickly as possible.

SENIOR ALDERMEN

Each group contains two senior aldermen and two recently-elected aldermen to assist them.

Group A consists of Mayor Wilson, Ald. Curtis, Dowell, Rev. J. L. McLean and Mrs. Lily Wilson. Group B consists of Mayor Wilson, Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow, Mooney, Michael Griffin and A. W. Toone.

FIVE FOR GRIFFIN

Most radical change fell to the lot of Ald. Griffin. He was handed a set of five committees, including four new ones.

Two entirely new committees were created — public transportation which Mayor Wilson reserved for himself, and urban renewal, given to Ald. Toone.

In the shakeup, four committees vanished — aged men's home, aged women's home, George Wayway and housing. City council now has a total of 14 committees. Committee chairmen are:

GROUP A

Ald. Dowell: finance, revenue and taxation, lands, legislative and civil service.

Ald. Curtis: fire warden, Memorial Arena, recreation and entertainment, intermunicipal.

Ald. Mrs. Wilson: health and morals, social welfare.

Ald. Mooney: civil defense, public utilities, decorations and commemorations, shipping and fisheries.

Mayor Wilson: public transportation, intermunicipal business, trade and industry, tourist traffic, air traffic.

GROUP B

Ald. Mooney: parks, boulevards and beaches, recreational facilities, city beautification, town planning and zoning.

Ald. Edgelow: public works, streets, bridges, street lighting, island highways.

Ald. Griffin: parking, streets traffic and transportation, signals, waterworks, sewers and garbage disposal.

Ald. Toone: urban renewal, Ross Bay Cemetery, harbor, stores and yards, buildings and grounds.

To Speak Here

President of the Canadian Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, Miss Una MacLean, will speak at a meeting of the Men's Canadian Club at 12:15 p.m. Jan. 17, and to the Women's Canadian Club at 2:30 p.m. in the Empress Hotel.

Servants' Pay Talks To Resume

Provincial government employees' representatives will meet the B.C. Civil Service Commission Thursday for the second round in their current wage boost negotiations.

The commission will then make a recommendation either accepting or rejecting the civil servants' demands for boosts ranging from five to 20 per cent.

Jaycees Facing Suit Over Prize at Fair

Hearing of a breach of contract suit against the Jaycees, Victoria Exhibition Society will open today in B.C. Supreme Court.

The suit has been launched by James Meyer of Vancouver, operator of Exhibition Advertising Enterprises Ltd. and Western Fairs Services Ltd.

He claims damages to the amount of profits lost by failure of the Jaycees to allow him to conduct the lottery for the cabin cruiser at last year's fair.

The society and the two companies contracted in February of 1958 to conduct model home lotteries for 1958, 1959 and 1960.

The plaintiff claims the contract was intended to cover lotteries for the cabin cruiser, not only the model home lot-

Ballerina Earns Ovation

In a superb and successful effort to overcome the effects of illness, Bobbi Ball, prima ballerina Kimmara Karavakaya last night captured the hearts of Victoria — and what many regarded as the greatest personal ovation ever offered in the city's Royal Theatre.

Less than 24 hours after suffering a kidney stone attack, Miss Karavakaya showed flawless technique in the difficult pas de deux from the Nutcracker Suite.

Joint Plan Seen

After seven years of trying, it appears that at last Saanich and Oak Bay will be able to agree on terms for improvement of Foul Bay Road as a joint project.

Oak Bay representatives who attended last night's Saanich public works committee meeting left with an understanding that formal approval by both councils involved would lead to a detailed study of the project.

Bear Hill Project

Saanich public works committee last night recommended hiring of a dozen men off the welfare rolls for winter work.

The crew, working under a foreman, would clear a trail to Bear Hill north of Elk Lake.

Woman Hurt By Car At Crossing

Mrs. Margaret Jackson, 62, of Apt. 20, 430 Vancouver, is in satisfactory condition at Royal Jubilee Hospital after being struck by a car at Fort and Dave at 5:25 p.m. yesterday.

Mrs. Jackson was taken to the nearby hospital by city police, and treated for a fractured right leg, X-rayed for other possible injuries, and admitted.

Police said she was crossing Fort in a crosswalk when struck by a car driven by John Alexander Murdoch, 20, of 2240 Beach.

Butchart's Planner

Hugh Lindsay Dies

A former head gardener at the Butchart Gardens, Hugh Lindsay, 82, died yesterday.

During his years on the job his careful planning and ability were a major contribution to what now is one of Vancouver Island's greatest tourist attractions.

Mr. Lindsay was a resident of Victoria for 31 years. He was born in Greenock, Scotland.

He is survived by a son, Robert, and a daughter, Mrs. G. G. Bellage, both of Victoria, and two granddaughters.

Funeral services will be held at Thomson and Irving funeral home at 2 p.m. Thursday.

U.S. Sets Off Ninth Blast

WASHINGTON (AP) — A low yield nuclear test blast, the ninth to be announced by the United States Atomic Energy Commission in its current series, was set off yesterday at the Nevada test site.

The AEC said the blast was detonated underground.

Seven-Year Hitch Over Road Ended?

The big problem facing Saanich, said Reeve Murphy, was the fact another major road improvement project had to be dropped to make way for the Foul Bay scheme. If council stuck to its present policy of financing roadwork out of general revenue.

There was general agreement, however, among members of the Saanich committee that the municipality's share of the costs in this case could be obtained by borrowing without establishing a precedent.

Municipal engineer Neville Life said the earlier estimate of Saanich's share of costs at some $70,000 could be changed to between $50,000 and $60,000 without omitting anything essential.

Reeve Murphy said Saanich acknowledged its responsibility for much of the traffic using Foul Bay Road. But he asked Oak Bay to consider improving a dangerous hill section on Cadboro Bay Road near Uplands gate to take care of the expected further influx of travel from Gordon Head and Ten Mile Point areas.

Reeve George Murdoch said Oak Bay had applied to the provincial government for a Cadboro Bay Road to be declared a secondary highway.

Welfare Cases

Where welfare recipients are hired, as at the Bear Hill project if it is approved by council, the provincial government will match the federal government's 50 per cent grant.

1962 Slump In Stocks Continues

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market Tuesday enjoyed a short-lived rally from the sharp losses of 1962 but could not hold its gains and ended the day mixed. Trading was moderate.

By the end of the second hour, the level had reached its best of the day. Prices then began to falter and trading slackened.

The Dow Jones industrial average, after showing a maximum gain of 1.78 at noon, closed with a net loss of 1.34 at 107.64.

CPR Moves Ahead

MONTREAL (CP) — Stocks recovered some of the losses suffered Monday and Friday.

Among the larger gainers, CPR at 25 1/2, Dofasco at 65 and Canadian Breweries at 50 1/2 all gained a point.

Papers were lower. Price dropped to 54 and Atchafalca fell 1/2 to 40.

International Nickel was off 1/2 at 87 1/2, among base metals.

In active industrial trading, General Dynamics rose 1/2 to 33 1/2 and Hudson's Bay Company added 1/2 to 12 1/2.

Banks were mixed.

Western oils were higher. Home A gained 1/2 to 13 1/2 and Central Rio gained five cents to 27.30.

Mercury-Chipman gained 15 cents to 11.02 among mines.

Breweries Strong

TORONTO (CP) — An opening rally on the stock market was erased as the market closed on the minus side.

Industrial issues, after opening strongly, were hit by profit-takers.

Bell Telephone, Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce and Imperial Oil went down.

Canadian Breweries, Argus Corporation, Distillers-Seagram and Canadian Pacific Railway gained.

Biggest drop of the day went to Ford of Canada, down 5 1/2.

Base metals were held down by losses in Falconbridge and Inco.

In speculative, Lake Dufault and Northgate advanced.

Good Features

VANCOUVER — Strong features appeared in industrial and mining. Centennial Mortgage rose 15 cents to 3.60.

While B.C. Power at 15 1/2, Trans Mountain at 15 1/2 and MacMillan at 19 were all higher.

Bethlehem continued strong among mines up 15 cents at 1.70.

Also higher were Giant Manganese at 84 and Western Mines at 25. Bralorne led gold higher at 6.55.

Brewery Campaign

More Shareholders!

By HARRY YOUNG

Columnist Business Editor

Like many other corporations whose products are bought by a large section of the public, Canadian Breweries is seeking to increase the number of persons owning shares in the company.

At its present price of nearly $60 the common shares of Canadian Breweries are beyond the range of most of the millions of Canadians—as well as Americans and British—who drink their beer.

As a result the directors are recommending the shares should be split on a five-for-one basis, so that once approved it is given they should be selling in the more popular range of about $12 each.

Not only would they be selling at a more attractive price but they would also be in greater supply. The present number of shares outstanding is 4,523,000 and the total after the split would rise to 22,615,000.

Canadian Breweries, no doubt, believes the more beer drinkers it can claim as shareholders, the more customers it is likely to acquire who will insist on "none other."

In the consumer goods line stock splits of this nature have recently been made by the following companies: Dominion Stores (5-1), La Balle (3-1), Weston A. & B. (3-1), Acadia Atlantic Sugar (3-1), Salada Sherriff-Horley (3-1), Loblaw Groceries (4-1), Stedman's (3-1) and Consumers Gas (3-1).

These companies have large more or less direct clients, and in each case they now have shares selling on the market at prices within the purse means of even the moderate investor.

Some evidence that Canada and Britain are drifting further and further apart economically is contained in a recent report from the U.K. information service which says in part "it is realized everywhere that national protection is on the way out."

The article by John Kingsley adds an expanding firm had no alternative but to be competitive abroad, and that this is the main motive behind Britain's determination to join the Common Market.

It could be queried if the sentiment held by British industry are reciprocated by the manufacturers in Canada, many of whom would be wiped out of their own domestic market without some form of protection.

As an exporter largely of raw or semi-processed materials, Canada in the matter of free trade is in a far less favorable position than Britain where raw materials are practically nil, and exports are almost wholly in the finished article.

If reasons have to be found this is surely one why the Canadian government is showing such grave concern over the

'Ball of Fire' Razes Club

CALGARY (CP)—A three-alarm fire raging through the Glenora Club was threatening to level the two-story building early this morning.

The blaze, which witnesses said began with a flash of light and a "great ball of fire" in a study hall, was out of control when firemen arrived shortly after 11 p.m.

At least 50 members were using the curling facilities of the private club and more than 30 were huddled when the fire began but fire department officials said all escaped without injury.

San Diego Hockey Rumor Denied; Nothing Official on Ref Rhubarb

By LARRY BOWE

PORTLAND, Ore. (CP)—President Al Leader of the Western Hockey League says he has heard nothing of a rumor that a San Diego, Calif., group would pay $150,000 for a league franchise.

Flyers Sell Comet Haley

PORTLAND, Ore. (CP)—Edmonton Flyers have sold forward Len (Comet) Haley to San Francisco Seals for cash and an option on an undrafted player.

The deal was made as executives of the league's eight teams gathered here for the WHL all-star game and a directors' meeting.

matter had been expected to be discussed, at least informally.

He said he has not been approached by any one from San Diego, nor has he heard talk of any franchise bid being made in the near future.

Sources in close touch with the league said the San Diego group, which they did not identify, was prepared to have ice available for a team in the league next season.

The California city was in professional hockey in 1949, but quit the old Pacific Coast League then because of poor facilities. The PCHL since has become the WHL and two California cities—San Francisco and Los Angeles—rejoined it this season after a 10-year absence.

Meanwhile, conflicting reports leaked from the one-day directors' meeting over fire-works that had been expected as a result of recent protests about officiating at Portland Buckaroos home games.

General managers Bud Poile

of Edmonton Flyers and Roy McBride of Spokane Comets, claiming the crowds controlled the officials in Portland, had publicly protested the officiating here and had said they'd bring the matter up at the meeting.

Poile said the matter was discussed, but Leader said it was not dealt with and that no action is planned.

Leader generally avoids any public discussion where his game officials are concerned.

Only two decisions of importance were announced. The first saw San Francisco chosen as the site of the league's next annual meeting. The meeting will be held May 25 and 26.

Directors also gave Winni-per formal permission to withdraw from the league. Winnipeg had suspended operations for the 1961-62 season because of poor attendance.

Winnipeg is said to be seeking a berth in the U.S. International Amateur League.

WHL playoff details were also announced Tuesday.

Teams finishing in second and third place in both the northern and southern divisions will play an inter-division best-of-three semi-final. Winnipeg will meet the division's league champion in a best-of-seven final.

The two division winners will then play another best-of-seven series for the league championship.

One Move Was Good

Vancouver Canucks aren't going anywhere this Western Hockey League season but they did accomplish something when they traded Ron Hutchison to Seattle Totems for Jim Baird.

The rookie forward scored three goals and assisted on another last night to help coach Phil Maloney lead the Canucks to one of their infrequent victories—5-2 over San Francisco Seals, another club with plenty of woes.

Baird's goals were his 24th, 25th and 26th of the season, tying him with Gerry Goyer for the league lead.

Maloney made the pass for each of Baird's goals and also scored himself as less than 1,000 Vancouver fans managed to pick a night that the Canucks were to win.

In last night's other game, Calgary Stampede held on to sole possession of second place in the Northern Division by playing to a 2-2 tie with Seattle Totems before 2,341 fans.

Fine goaling by Al Millar, who made 38 stops, was a big factor in Totems saving a point.

According to the Solunar Tables, the best time to pick or hunt is during the "high" and "low" periods of the moon. The tables show the best times for picking and hunting for various types of game.

Fitness, Sports Council Includes Rocket, Meeker

OTTAWA (CP)—Health Minister Monteith announced Tuesday night the formation of a national advisory council on physical fitness.

Kenneth P. Farmer, president of the Canadian Olympic Association from 1953 to 1961 and director of the Canadian Sports Advisory Council since 1948, will be chairman of the new federal council.

Mr. Monteith also announced the names of 29 members of the council—five from the Atlantic provinces, eight from Western Canada, eight from Quebec and eight from Ontario.

The health minister said in a statement that the council will "assist the government in implementing the new fitness and amateur sports program enacted at the last session of parliament."

Parliament set aside $5,000,000 in the session for the job of encouraging and developing fitness and not-for-profit sports.

Mr. Monteith said Canadians picked as members of the council "are a most distinguished group whose leadership will ensure that the program is a success."

MEET 800N
He said the first meeting of the council will be held within the next two or three weeks.

"We are anxious that the council get together as soon as possible so that no time will be lost in getting the whole project moving and into full operation."

Mr. Monteith said that the federal government also hopes to arrange for the setting up of a federal provincial committee at the deputy minister level "to deal with administrative matters arising out of the federal-provincial aspects of the program."

PLAN CONFERENCE
A federal-provincial conference is being planned prior to working out agreements with the provinces, he said.

Members of the council include such former National Hockey League greats as Howie Meeker, now living at St. John's, Nfld., and Maurice (Rocket) Richard of Montreal.

Other members include Ottawa Rough Riders defensive halfback Joe Polzear, recently appointed Anglican suffragan bishop of Rupert's Land, Rt. Rev. J. O. Anderson of Winnipeg, a Roman Catholic priest, Rev. Louis Armstrong of Yarmouth, N.S., and sports editors and writers.

TWO SPORTS EDITORS
Sports editors appointed to the council are Andy O'Brien, Montreal, of Weekend Magazine; Thomas (Scotty) Melville, Regina Leader-Post.

Also named from the newspaper field was Vern DeGree, reporter and columnist with the Montreal Gazette, as well as Charles Mayer, a columnist with La Patrie.

They will be joined by sports broadcasting pioneer H. E. (Red) Foster of Toronto and Toronto Telegram sports columnist Ted Reeve.

Other members of the council are G. MacCollum, director of Zone to get 254 in four and a half hours for victory—a rate YMCA at Saint John, N.B.;

John Ready, Charlottetown, director of recreation; Dorothy Walker, Halifax physical educationist;

Dr. Roch Lechance of St. Damien Station, Que., local sports organizer and a founder of the St. Damien Arena; Andre Marceau, Quebec city sports organizer; Rev. de la Sablonniere, Montreal, founder of Centre de l'Immensee; Herb Trawick, former Alouette star;

Margaret Lord, Hamilton, Ont., vice-president of the British Empire Games Association; Harvey McFarland, sportsman and mayor of Pictou, Ont.; Melville F. Rogers, Ottawa, president of the Canadian Sports Advisory Council; James Worrall, Toronto, president of the Canadian Olympic Association;

Andrew Currie, Winnipeg, director of recreation services; Robert D. Freese, Calgary, club president; Allan McGavin, Vancouver, chairman of the Pan-American Games for Canada and vice-president of the Canadian Olympic Association; Prof. R. F. Osborn, Vancouver, director of the school of physical education, University of British Columbia; W. H. Pettigrew, Edmonton, member of the national executive of the YMCA; Edgar Wallace Simpson, Saskatoon, physical education director; Saskatoon Teachers College.

He told the SOS executive that some of the work done on the Puntledge was done without sanction of the federal department of fisheries.

"You," he said, "are doing a good job but there are many other fisheries problems in this area which could use the support of SOS and other similar organizations."

"It always comes down to the question of economics—fish or power? If power can be shown to be more valuable, then the fish are allowed to be destroyed. I believe that some effort should be made to see if it is possible to have both."

Those words, spoken by Harry McQuillan, MP for Comox-Alberni, brought a glow of encouragement to the executive of Save Our Salmon, the club formed here last year in an effort to do something about the hydro development which, sportmen claim, have all but destroyed the salmon runs in the Puntledge River.

Mr. McQuillan met with the executive of SOS at a luncheon meeting on Monday.

He outlined his efforts to get some action which would end the destruction of salmon on the Puntledge.

"If it was private enterprise which was using the Puntledge for hydro development, there would be no difficulty in forcing compliance with the Federal Fisheries Act," he told his listeners. "But it is a matter of the federal government versus the provincial government, and that makes it difficult."

IAA held an edge in play most of the way, and would have won by a handler margin except for Beveridge, who managed to kick out 42 shots.

Makowski opened the scoring, and IAA was never caught after his second goal broke a 1-1 tie early in the second period. Toby Wilson brought the score to 3-1 and Makowski killed off Navy hopes with his third goal after Ron Coos had put the Sailors within a goal.

Port Alberni improved over early season but still not quite good enough, opened the scoring through Yessowick but needed 45 shots from goal keeper Kropelnicki, as hard to beat as he is to spell, to keep the score respectable.

Joe Zuback led the winners with two goals and an assist while Dan Zolob also got two pucks past Kropelnicki.

Thrilling Win For MCC XV
BAGALORE (Reuters)—The Marylebone Cricket Club of England won one of the most exciting matches of its cricket tour of India here Monday when it beat South Zone by 37 runs with 40 minutes to spare.

Declaring its second innings at 192 for two, MCC set South Zone to get 254 in four and a half hours for victory—a rate of just over 56 an hour.

NFL Attendance Record Set

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—The National Football League adopted its first playing rule change in four years Tuesday in a safety move and approved, on an experimental basis, a new radio-controlled timing device.

The rule change, suggested by Baltimore Colts, will make it illegal for any player to grab the face mask of an opponent. Penalty will be 15 yards.

In the past the ball carrier was the only player whose mask could be grabbed.

The new timing device in effect means the players' request that the scoreboard clock be made official in timing games. Often there has been a discrepancy between the officials' watch and the clock on the field as to the exact number of seconds remaining. Even a few seconds can change the thinking of a quarterback at a crucial stage.

Two others have been sent back down.

Humphrey, chief scout for Rangers, identified them as Dave Balon, Bryan Hextall and Mel Pearson.

Balon, 24, a left winger, is third in the EPHL scoring race. He is a native of Walkers, Sask., and a graduate of Prince Albert (now Dauphin) Minors of the Saskatchewan Junior Hockey League.

Pearson, 23, another left winger, played 23 games with Rangers in the 1959-60 season. He is from Flin Flon, Man., where he played hockey for the Bombers of the SJHL. He is sixth in the EPHL standings.

Hextall, a 20-year-old centre, was with Brandon Wheat Kings of the Manitoba Junior Hockey League. His father, Bryan Hextall, is a former New York Rangers star who won the NHL scoring title in 1941-42.

Jean Ratelle and Rod Gilbert are rejoining the Beavers. Gilbert has been out of action this season following a back injury.

IT BEATS ME

By Jim Tang

TONY GUTOSKI, Tony Gutoski says, has retired from curling.

He said it as if he meant it, and if he did mean it curling in B.C. has lost one of its best shotmakers and skips. Tony still has his curling skills but ever since he reached his goal of playing in the Canadian championships it has been evident that he cared less and less for the mental strains of top competitive curling.

For Tony, the mental strain was more than for most. A high-strung type, he was never at his best unless his stomach was so queasy that he was always in danger of having to bolt off the ice.

During the past year, he has put on about 40 pounds, become a grandfather, mellowed a bit and developed an increasing liking for bridge.

"I've got my stomach in shape, and I'm going to keep it that way," he vows. "It just isn't worth it any more."

Any bets?

THINK IT OVER: "Gold," says pro star Gary Player in the January issue of Golf Digest, "teaches women qualities they don't learn in their duties as housewives. Well-meaning husbands should encourage their wives to spend more time at the game."

On the course, a woman learns how to compete and accept victory and defeat. She learns to be patient and to control her emotions. These are lessons that will make a better mate and mother. She will suddenly become more sympathetic to hubby's golf problems. She might even understand when he leaves the lawn uncut to play a round with the boys.

Player's plan is good, except for one thing. Will hubby understand when he finds his socks unattended and dinner always late?

A THINKER: It's a dull enough evening to pass on the story about the fellow who took his son, aged 10, to see his first major league baseball game.

The youngster grew more and more excited as the game went along, responding to the adulation the fans had for the big stars. Suddenly, the lad spoke up, rather wistfully.

"Daddy," he said, "why aren't you somebody important like a ball player?"

Taken aback, but recovering quickly, the father replied, "Look, son, I'll show you how important I am pretty soon."

As the teams changed sides in the seventh inning, he stood up and yelled, "Everybody in the park, stand up."

Everybody, of course, did—and Pop was back where Pops should be.

HOWE CLOSES IN: It's becoming increasingly evident that Maurice Richard's career record of 544 National Hockey League goals is likely to be broken by Gordie Howe before the big Detroit Red Wing has to call it a career.

As if in answer to those who believed he was slipping when he produced only 23 scoring shots last season, Howe has bounced back with one of his better seasons.

With 32 games left to play this season, Howe has scored 19 times to bring his lifetime total to 498 goals. He should get his 500th near the end of the season, and his 545th should come somewhere near the end of the 1963-64 season. But he has more time than that. He won't be 34 until next March and there is no reason to believe he can't play as long as Richard, who was in his 38th year when he retired.

RANDOM HARVEST: One rumor going the rounds is that Jackie Parker is part of one of the syndicates—the one with Normie Kwong as front man—which has offered to make a bid to purchase the B.C. Lions. Andy Bathgate is quite an important man in the New York Rangers. The veteran forward has scored 17 goals and made 37 assists this season, which means that he has figured in 46 per cent of the goals scored by his club. Gordie Howe has figured in 43 per cent of the goals scored by Detroit Red Wings.

George Sewish, one-time "bad boy" of the Western Hockey League, is still chasing pucks—leading the Saskatchewan Rough Riders in scoring. Jackie McLeod, another former WHL star, is playing coach of Moose Jaw. Jim Fox is in the same league—and also getting a lot of points. . . . West real Canadians have plenty of good forwards but they may have found one really good one go when they let Boston Bruins get Cliff Pennington, a big centre with one of the hardest shots in the game. Pennington has eight goals and 23 assists to date and is one of the few bright things about his club this season. . . . A Victoria club is planning to play in an invitational rugger tournament set for Monterey, Calif., next spring. . . . And there is a report that the Victoria Shamrocks will back a junior lacrosse club this season, which would be a very good thing indeed.

GUESSING DEPARTMENT: Toronto in tonight's NHL game and Portland and Spokane in tonight's WHL play. Batting average to date: At bat 11, hits 5, percentage .455.

A lengthy record of previous convictions doesn't mean that a man can't reform. Magistrate William Ostler said in Saanich police court yesterday.

He reserved sentence on Richard Albert Brooks, 2745 Quadra, who pleaded guilty to theft of $67 worth of goods from a Saanich supermarket.

Court was told that Brooks had a record of previous convictions dating back to 1941. The record showed sentences for terms up to five years for shoplifting, theft, breaking and entering and possession of stolen property.

Brooks' lawyer told the court the accused had been gainfully employed for the past 18 months and had "successfully rehabilitated himself."

He said Brooks got into trouble Dec. 13 when he drank too much at an office party, then went shopping with his wife at Safeway Stores, 3535 Douglas.

Police said Brooks loaded a cart with goods then tried to leave the store.

Law to Stop Trading Stamps Planned for Coming Session

Provincial government will introduce legislation at the coming session aimed at banning all forms of trading stamp promotions in B.C., Attorney-General Robert Bonner said yesterday.

"It is our intention to stop it," he announced after ruling that the present schemes being offered by three supermarket chains in the province were, under the present statutes, perfectly legal.

Mr. Bonner added trading stamps could only lead to "chaotic merchandising conditions" and would result in about a two percent increase in the cost of groceries within six months.

In addition, he said, it would place an impossible burden on small corner store grocers who are already hard placed to make ends meet.

HOW MUCH FURTHER
"I have asked two of our solicitors to study how much further we can go provincially to ban this sort of thing," said Mr. Bonner. "We intend to legislate just as far as we can against these promotions."

The stamps were first issued by Shop-Easy Stores (B.C.) Ltd., last week and two other chains, Super Valu and Loblaw's quickly followed suit.

Trading stamps as such are banned under the Criminal Code.

NOT TRADING STAMPS
Mr. Bonner said the present coupons were technically not trading stamps and said a ruling of the Supreme Court of Canada in a Manitoba case supported this view.

In 1960 legislation was passed in this province making it illegal for third parties to issue trading stamps but there is nothing to stop a store from printing its own stamps and giving away its own merchandise.

Play of Ideas

'Don Juan' Opens Saturday

The 1962 theatrical season in Victoria starts on Saturday when the Theatre Guild opens a seven-night run of George Bernard Shaw's "Don Juan in Hell."

Price: Mephistopheles by Bruce Bannard and the Commander by Ken Bostock. The lone female character, Donna Anna, will be portrayed by Helen Smith. Bert Williams directs.

The box office opens today at Eaton's.

"Don Juan" is actually the third act of "Man and Superman" and is called by the producers a play of ideas and a concentration of Shaw's lifelong philosophies.

While the production is in the nature of experimental theatre, it is not just a reading as was "Under Milk Wood."

There are four characters in the play; the same as those in Mozart's "Don Giovanni." Don Juan is played by Robert Curtain time at Langham Court Theatre is 8:30 each night and no one will be admitted after that time except during the intermission.

Fire-Hit Family Finds Refuge

Grice family of 2975 Millgrove beat a hasty retreat when fire blackened attic of their home last night. Firemen said blaze started in upstairs cupboard and caused $500 damage. Raymond Grice, left; Marie, 8; Michael, 10; Mrs. Marion Grice and Kennie, 9, relax at neighbor's home after blaze. Children first heard crackling sounds and thought they were caused by rats. House and contents were covered by insurance. — (Colonist photo.)

Chamber Seeks Guarantee

Helicopter Problem Heading for Ottawa

Problem posed by Okanagan Helicopters Ltd.'s proposal to institute a Victoria-Vancouver helicopter service will be discussed in a submission by Victoria Chamber of Commerce to the federal department of transport. The company's application in start the downtown-to-downtown service will be heard in Ottawa later this month.

The chamber is concerned Victoria may be left with no air transportation to the mainland should the helicopter service fail, as Trans-Canada Air Lines has already agreed to withdraw in favor of the helicopters.

A spokesman said yesterday the chamber would seek a guarantee air transportation would continue.

TO BE DISCUSSED
The submission will be discussed by the chamber's transportation and harbor group at a meeting at the Colonial Hotel Monday before being passed on to the board of directors for approval.

Cinder Nuisance Eliminated Soon

Most of Victoria's long term cinder nuisance will be eliminated shortly. Aid Geoffrey Edgelow said last night. "B.C. Forest Products has completed installation of a cinder collector and it now is in operation," he said.

LONG PLAGUE
"After a few adjustments it will eliminate more of the cinder nuisance which has plagued the city for many years."

Ald. Edgelow was releasing the text of a year-end report prepared by city smoke inspector Thomas Walker.

EXCEPT ONE
All mills and steam boiler plants in Victoria except one are meeting the requirements of the city's recently-adopted smoke bylaw.

The single exception — a shingle mill — is making improvements which will bring it within the terms of the bylaw.

Bull Theft Hearing Adjourned

A preliminary hearing of theft charges against two men charged with stealing a Hereford bull was adjourned to Jan. 18 for final argument by counsel.

Charged are Robert Simpson, 34 Niagara, and Hector Reid, Glen Lake.

The charges allege they stole the bull from the Sook farm of William Smith. The hearing is being conducted in provincial police court by Magistrate A. I. Thomas.

Friendship Damaged?

Another Centennial Critic In Line of Edgelow's Fire

For the second time in two days, Aid. Geoffrey Edgelow took issue Tuesday with a critic of arrangements to celebrate the city's centenary this year. Verbal rapped over the knuckles was James K. Nes-

Who's Covering Up The Commissioner?

The perplexing case of the missing police commissioner is causing comment at city hall. And the provincial government, whose turn it is to appoint one of the city's three police commissioners, is mum about the whole affair.

William Hamilton, a commissioner for the past 10 years, was appointed by the government two years ago but his term ended Dec. 31.

And up to last night Mr. Hamilton had not heard from Attorney-General Bonner's department.

A spokesman for the government refused to discuss the matter with the Colonist apart from an assurance that a decision will be announced in one or two days.

Mr. Hamilton is continuing in his position until the government announcement.

Farmers Killed City Meat Law

Victoria had a restrictive bylaw calling for inspection of meat for a period of 14 days in 1956.

This was recalled yesterday in the wake of a discussion of meat inspection during Monday's council meeting.

The bylaw banning sale of any meat other than that inspected by federal or provincial officials took effect May 1, 1956.

But opposition from farmers was so strong the bylaw was rescinded by city council May 14.

The question of whether or, locally-slaughtered meat should be inspected boiled up again in city council in 1956 and 1959.

One city official said last night the major problem was that the provincial government has no regulations on slaughtering and sale of meat in B.C.

The federal government regulates the interprovincial sale of meat, but the province has left the question up to the municipalities.

"This way the government avoids antagonizing the farm-

Cycle Thief Robs Second Brother

Two small boys in Esquimalt can understand people wanting bicycles and tricycles; they just can't see why somebody had to take theirs.

BIRTHDAY PRESENT
Allan Carr, 6, had his green and white tricycle taken from beside the back stairs of his home last October. It was a birthday present.

Gordon Carr, 7, had his blue and cream bicycle taken from the same spot Sunday night. It was a Christmas present.

The boys and their parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Carr, R24 Intervale, made exhaustive but vain tours of the neighborhood and beyond on each occasion.

"We hope," said Mrs. Carr yesterday, "that the parties concerned get as much pleasure from them as our sons did."

The pistol was stolen from the home of George Sanders,

2810 Shelbourne, Dec. 15.

On Dec. 20, Mrs. Margaret

McCall, 1435 Denman, told police a youth she discovered in her home had threatened her and her daughter with a pistol.

City juvenile officer Norman Galbraith said Newton told the woman: "Back off or I'll shoot."

WHELP GIVEN

He said the pistol was empty at the time and added:

"On behalf of the boys . . .

after they were apprehended,

they did everything possible to help us recover what could be recovered and to assist us in any way they could," he said.

CHARGED JOINTLY

The pair are charged jointly with breaking into the following city homes: Dec. 19, 1510

Clawthorpe; Dec. 20, 1435

Denman, breaking and entering with intent to commit an

OTHER HOMES

Newton was also charged with breaking into homes at 2810 Shelbourne (where the gun was stolen), 1612 Myrtle and 1528 Edgeware.

Oak Bay police charged them jointly with breaking into a home at 2066 Townley.

Newton was also charged with breaking into 2022 Kings.

BREAK-INS LISTED

Joint charges laid by Saanich listed break-ins at 3381

Veteran, 3121, 3225 and 3213

Service, all on Jan. 2. Newton was also charged with the

Dec. 15 and 15 burglaries at

1801 Carnarvon and 1837

Kings.

TREES TOPPLED

Police testified that most of the city burglaries were accompanied by acts of vandalism. With Christmas trees

toppled, and milk, sugar and Smooth, custardy Quiche Lorraine.

Serve Main Dish With Crisp Salad

This highly nutritious dish, Celery Quiche Lorraine contains both milk and cheese and may be served with a crisp salad and spicy pickles for an ideal luncheon.

CELERY QUICHE LORRAINE

(Makes 56 servings)

One 9-inch unbaked pie shell, 6 slices side bacon, fried, 3 ounces Swiss cheese (about 3 slices 1/4-inch thick), 1 tablespoon all-purpose flour, 1/2 teaspoon celery salt, 1 1/2 cups (large can) undiluted evaporated milk, 4 eggs, beaten, 3 tablespoons sliced celery.

Crumble fried bacon in pie shell; cover with cheese slices. Combine flour and celery salt; gradually add evaporated milk. Add beaten eggs to milk mixture. Beat well. Stir in sliced celery. Pour into pie shell; bake in hot oven (400 degrees) 25 to 30 minutes, or until knife inserted in centre of pie comes out clean. Serve immediately.

PANTRY

One cup sifted all-purpose flour, 1/2 to 3/4 teaspoon salt, few grains celery salt, 1/2 cup shortening or lard, 23 tablespoons cold water.

Sift together flour, salt and celery salt. Cut in shortening to size of small peas. Add cold water a teaspoonful at a time, while tossing mixture lightly with fork. Press together; flatten slightly; chill 10 minutes. Roll to fit 9-inch pie plate.

Note: Pastry shell and filling may be made ahead of time, refrigerated separately, and combined just before baking.

Winter Driving Brings Problems

By EDNA BLAKELY

TORONTO (CP) — Women are particularly nervous when it comes to winter driving but can gain confidence if they understand the problems, says Ethel McLellan, director of women's activities for the Ontario department of transport.

"The first time a woman starts down her suburban street and there are no other cars around, she should try her brakes gently. This will give her the feel of the road."

Before getting into the car, brush any snow off the windows. It's important to do the roof and the hood too so that the snow won't blow and block either the front or rear windows.

Mrs. McLellan says she has never found a wiper that's long enough to suit her and she carries an old curling broom around.

"A curling broom or a discarded house broom will do. This means a woman can do an efficient job and still stand far enough back to stop the snow from getting up her sleeves."

Mrs. McLellan admits she's never tried it herself but she said a friend of hers carries a tin of household cleanser in the car. The cleanser provides the necessary abrasion if the woman gets stuck on ice.

Six basic rules have been devised by the Ontario transport department for safe winter driving.

The first is to start gently on packed snow or ice. Use second gear if the car has a manual shift. Turn wheels straight ahead to ease starting. When stuck in snow, start in low gear and move forward slowly as far as possible and then shift into reverse. Continue the rocking action until free.

Windows and windshields should be kept clear of ice, snow and slush. If the lower back windows are left slightly open it will help to keep the inside glass from fogging. To help others see you, use headlights during daytime snowstorms.

Speed should be adjusted to the slipperiness of ice and snow on the road. A single brake application will indicate how easily wheels will slide.

Remember that it takes from three to 12 times more distance to stop on snow and ice than on dry pavement, so keep well back of the vehicle ahead and drive at slower than normal speeds.

Anticipate braking situations and start slowing down well before reaching a turn, intersection or crest of a hill. Slow down to a safe speed to avoid a front end skid at a turn, a rear end skid on a curve, sliding into an intersection or to bogging down a hill out of control.

Pumping brakes will prevent the wheels from locking and skidding. Pumping is a quick application of the brakes followed immediately by full release. This gives alternate intervals of maximum braking effect and steering control while the wheels are rolling.

Love Seats

Traditional Furniture Gains Ground

By JOYCE SCHULLER

CHICAGO (UPI) — Apartment-sized furniture still is largely contemporary in design, but traditional styles are gaining ground.

The trend showed up at the International Home Furnishings market this week in the many smaller antique reproductions, perfect for apartments.

Outstanding in one collection is a flip-top Queen Anne occasional table in genuine mahogany, ideal for use as a writing table and small enough to fit comfortably in an apartment foyer. The only decorations are antiqued brass hardware and rudimentary scrollwork leaf carvings on the gracefully-turned cabriole legs.

Love-seats by the pair, easier to use in the small apartment than long sofas, also come in a wide variety of period styles. One striking pair with an Empire look has cylinder-shaped bolsters at either end, loose back cushions and comes in a lush variety of striped silks and floral tapestries.

Many of the modern designs for apartments now have traditional touches. In one contemporary walnut collection of 20 scaled-down pieces, the sofa is sleek and slim in the modern manner, but also has fluffy loose back cushions like a period piece and such purely decorative touches as back and arm panels of cane. A semi-barrel chair in the collection has the almost Victorian touch of diamond tufted back and seat.

Among the highly functional new pieces, well suited to apartment living, are the many stackable chests, book-cases and cabinets; drop-leaf chests that double as dining tables; a four-in-one table that folds into a compact 9 1/2 x 36 inches and expands to seat 12 for dinner; and folding screens. Most unusual screen is an imported see-through design in black wrought-iron.

Your Problems

By Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: I am a high school sophomore who has never been very popular. I decided this year I was going to make a success of myself. I sent for your booklet "How To Be Well-Liked" and I read it five times. Your system works, but it attracts the wrong kind of people.

The girls I'm dying to have notice me still don't know I'm alive. The dogs stick like glue.

I've been getting telephone calls from several pests lately. My mother commented that I'm becoming pretty popular all of a sudden. She doesn't understand that I don't care for any of the girls who call. I think I was better off the other way.

Please write another booklet on "How to Be Well-Liked by the Right Kind of People." Thank you—FAILURE AT 15.

Dear Failure: Please don't bum rap the booklet. Before you read it you weren't attracting anybody. Now at least you're getting some attention, even though it's not from the girls you want.

Just keep at it, Boy, and memorize the last paragraph on page 1.

Dear Ann Landers: Our son is five years old and his father has yet to call him by his given name. He wanted to name the child after his father and I hated that name so I named him after my father instead. My husband has been mad at me ever since, and he takes it out on the boy.

It hurts me to see him ignore his own son. We have a younger daughter and he fusses over her constantly. I'm sure the boy feels left out. I'm afraid if my husband doesn't warm up soon they will never have a decent father-son relationship.

What can I do?—B. WILDERED.

Dear B.: You manufactured a good share of your trouble by running roughshod over your husband's wishes. Now you must make the best of the situation by trying to persuade your husband that a child needs love and affection from both parents. When he fails to get it the results can be devastating.

If your husband cannot warm up to the boy suggest professional help.

Navy Back in Style

TORONTO (CP)—Classic navy will return to the Canadian fashion scene for spring. Although no one color will be dominant "the biggest color news is the return of navy in coats and suits," Vivian Wilcox, fashion editor of Chateau and style told buyers gathered here for the 14th Ontario market here.

Three groups of colors will replace the hot pinks and purples of the past season. They are the neutrals, pastels and a red, white and blue combination.

With the stress off color, clothes will become curvier and feature more detail. Ruffles, fringes and loops appear on summer dresses and there are a lot of prints. The newest prints are flat, stylized patterns known as "art nouveau."

The neutrals, principally beige, are shown in rustic or homespun fabrics.

LIST NEW COLORS

The pastel colors for spring are blue, pink, green and yellow. The taut peach and apricot tones have not turned up but may appear later for summer, Miss Wilcox said.

The most significant coat shape for spring curved close to the body with seaming at the bust to give a conclave look to the midriff. The narrow collar was set away from the neck and was notched. Another new shape was the fitted bodice with a clearly defined waist and full skirt. The sleeves of both were narrow. More suits were shown with short jackets that had either small collars or not at all.

Sooke Institute members, Mrs. A. W. Smith and Mrs. J. F. Kennedy, advise that the classes will be held on Monday evenings in the Milne's Landing home economics classroom.

Sewing Classes At Sooke

Registration for dressmaking classes takes place Wednesday, Jan. 10, at 7:30 p.m. in the Milne's Landing High School. The Sooke and North Sooke Women's Institute and the Sooke School District, No. 62, are sponsoring the classes.

Mrs. Jessie Warrington, Milne's Landing home economics teacher will direct the course which will run to 20 lessons and have a maximum of 20 students with a fee of $15 each.

Sooke Institute members, Mrs. A. W. Smith and Mrs. J. F. Kennedy, advise that the classes will be held on Monday evenings in the Milne's Landing home economics classroom.

Philippe Tournaye's boxy Scotch mohair in smoky grey has rounded shoulders and a wide flat collar. Self-flapped pockets lend utility.

David Kidd's black and white checked wool tweed is finished with high, set-in sleeves and vertical, concealed pockets, high waist.

Pauline Trigere's free-swinging brown, black and white wool tweed features patch pockets, a collarless neckline and kimono sleeves.

Here are three samples of New York fashion designers' tastes in spring coats.

St. Joseph's Auxiliary Raises $11,388 in Year

A total of $11,388.80 was raised by members of the St. Joseph's Hospital Ladies' Auxiliary it was disclosed in the treasurer's report given by Mrs. J. C. Gillis at the annual meeting held yesterday at the hospital.

This amount added to the previous year's earnings now makes a total of $23,000, earmarked for the new building fund.

NEW BUILDING

Sister Superior, Sister Mary Ann Celeste, spoke in appreciation of the tremendous amount of work done by the members and outlined plans for the new building. She made special reference to the plans for the ultra modern laundry.

Expenditures amounted to $4,802.31 and included a bursary presented to Sister Miriam Jade, a gift to the library and a new sewing machine and gifts for the children in the ward.

Mrs. P. W. Semenchuk, re-elected president, showed money had been raised by a bridge and tea, linen shower, coffee party, garden party, home bake sale and the Christmas bazaar which brought in $5,200.

Other officers elected were Mrs. A. Boden, first vice-president; Mrs. E. Mienaux, second vice-president; Mrs. C. M. Day, treasurer; and Mrs. B. Ryan, secretary. Councillors appointed were Mrs. W. L. Caldwell, Mrs. R. A. Kinson and Mrs. T. Pyle.

Special guests at the meeting were Mrs. Kenneth Scare, Mrs. E. Owens, Mrs. C. McCarthy, Mrs. D. F. C. MacArthur, Mrs. H. G. Southin and Mrs. G. H. Coffery.

Dr. Tompkins

In Montana

Dr. and Mrs. Stuart Tompkins, Laguna Road, have left for Missoula, Mont., where Dr. Tompkins has been invited to lecture at Montana State University for the next three months on Russian history.

Formerly with the University of Oklahoma and now retired in Victoria, Dr. Tompkins has for many years made an intensive study of Russian history and the Russian mind, and is the author of a number of books on these subjects.

Pushed by gusty winds and aided by June-January temperatures, two big blazes and several smaller ones flared through valuable stands of redwood and Douglas fir south of San Francisco.

A rare outbreak of winter forest fires blackened thousands of acres of timber, brush and grass yesterday in California's coastal mountains.

One death was attributed indirectly to the major blaze in Santa Cruz county.

Pushed by gusty winds and aided by June-January temperatures, two big blazes and several smaller ones flared through valuable stands of redwood and Douglas fir south of San Francisco.

MONTH OF SALES!

DRAPERY and UPHOLSTERY SALE!!

Let the Bay Custom-Make your Draperies! One Low Price includes Your Choice of Fabric, Lining and Expert Workmanship

Be your own designer or obtain free home advice from our expert Sales Staff, and bring new elegance to your rooms with custom-made draperies from the BAY. Let the BAY'S trained personnel advise you on the proper selection of graceful drapes in 48" textured cottons and antique satin fabrics for modern, transitional, or traditional home harmony. Your drapes will be expertly made from better quality fabrics and fully sateen lined, with shirred headings to create a smoothly draped effect.

When you take advantage of the year-end close out of discontinued drapery fabrics you'll have beautiful drapes at far below usual cost

3⁹⁵ to 5⁹⁵ yard complete

That's right, custom-made draperies, fully lined, and all you pay for is the drapery fabric! This year-end close-out of discontinued patterns in Damask, Brocade, Antique Satin and Cotton textures, all 48" wide in assorted colors is a real bargain and you will have expertly made drapes you can be proud of.

The BAY, draperies, 6th

The Bay's expert workmen will re-upholster your suite in your choice of fabric at one Low Sale Price

Add fresh sparkle to your rooms, give new life to a chesterfield suite that you feel is looking just a "little tired" and save over 20% at the BAY'S January sale of upholstery! Beautiful nylon face fabrics in beige, turquoise, green, brown, red, sand, fuchsia and blue offer deep-toned vibrancy that won't fade or sun streak, plus the iron-like wearing quality that's invested in the fabric by the addition of nylon. Naturally, with all of this comes expert workmanship: the suites reupholstered by the BAY will be returned to you looking almost better than new! If you're puzzled about color, then ask our Interior Designer, Mr. Bill Langwith, about the best choice in your home—he'll be glad to advise you of fabric or color.

Rights Bill Fails Indians

VANCOUVER (CP)—The British Columbia Court of Appeal, decided Tuesday the Canadian Bill of Rights does not override the Indian Act.

The court dismissed an appeal by an Indian convicted of being in possession of liquor away from his reserve. The Indian, Harvey Gonzales of the North Shore reservation, was fined $10 in police court last year.

BILL CITED

The Bill of Rights was cited when the case was taken to the B.C. Supreme Court, where the conviction was upheld, and then to the Court of Appeal.

Appellate Justice C. W. Tyne in a written judgment handed down Tuesday said:

APPLIED EQUALLY

PARTICULAR GROUP

He added Indians are a particular group who, by the Indian Act, have particular rights, privileges and disabilities. If the Bill of Rights does not affect their rights and privileges it cannot affect their disabilities, such as the law governing liquor.

Happy Bunches

All's well for Alfred Bunch, Salmon Arm, B.C., man and his two small boys after he was accused at Oakland, Calif., of mistreating them by locking them up in his truck while he scrounged for food. Yesterday, a judge lifted charges and complimented Bunch for taking such good care of the boys, Richard, 3, and Allen, 13 months.—(AP Photofax.)

Near-Fatal Goof Admitted by U.S.

DUNOON, Scotland (UPI)—Capt. Richard Lanning, commander of the Polaris submarine supply boat Proteus, said yesterday "we made a goof" in throwing away a crate of detonators.

The explosives were found by a group of road workers and were nearly thrown on a fire the workers had built to warm up. But one of the men read the label on the crate and police were notified.

"We made a goof, but it won't happen again," Capt. Lanning said. "We really don't know how it (the crate) got thrown out with the trash."

The Proteus is anchored in nearby Holy Loch.

V. M. MOLOTOV

Vyacheslav, Where Are You?

VIENNA, Austria (AP)—If he left Moscow Saturday, he should have arrived here Monday. Reporters and photographers were waiting in the Soviet foreign ministry to see him. But no one saw him.

RESUMING POST

That agency had announced Monday that Molotov was resuming his post as permanent Soviet representative to the International Atomic Energy Agency in Vienna and probably left Moscow Saturday.

CAUL BACK

Adding to the puzzle, the Soviet foreign ministry in Moscow had two answers Tuesday to questions about its first report that Molotov supposedly left Saturday.

One was that he would be leaving next Friday or Saturday. The other was that for whatever reason, he was required and reporters would have to call back today.

BOUGHT TICKET

Unofficial Soviet sources in Moscow said Molotov had bought a ticket for the train that left Saturday and the foreign ministry reaffirmed that the old Stalinist definitely was coming back to Vienna.

In Jet Bomber Cockpit

Darling, Your Engine's on Fire

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Lt. Col. Henry Deitchendorf and his crew were bringing their eight jet B-58 bomber down at Carswell, Texas, Air Force base.

Suddenly a woman's husky voice whispered a warning in his ear. He looked, and sure enough, two engines had flamed out.

His crew heard the warning in time to trim the ship properly for the landing only minutes ahead. A possible accident was averted.

The voice came from a black box in the bomber's instrument panel.

The eight-pound box, a miniature tape recorder, was hooked up with the panel's system of warning lights. When the engines flamed out, the box began playing a recording of the voice of Gina Drax, a pretty secretary in the Northrup Corporation plant where the box was made.

Why wasn't a man's voice used?

A woman's voice gets more attention in a bomber cockpit.

The voice warning system is being installed in all B-58 bombers because pilot attention can be diverted from the panel lights by a number of emergencies. He may overlook visual signals but tests show pilot response to Gina's dulcet tones is immediate.

Vicious Gunfight Two Die In Hail Of Bullets

MONTREAL (CP)—An escaped convict and a provincial policeman were killed Tuesday in a vicious gun battle in Montreal's east end.

One city policeman was paralyzed by a bullet.

Convict Raymond Rouleau was buying a car at a used-car lot when police approached to question him about bonds used to pay for the car.

BULLET IN SPINE

Rouleau ran, and was cornered on a third-floor tenement balcony nearby. In the ensuing gunfight, Constable Roger Forboudou, 28, a seven-year veteran of the provincial police, was fatally wounded and Montreal police Sergeant Jean Paul Vincent was dropped by a bullet in the spine. Rouleau was hit by 16 bullets.

IN THE MIDDLE

Jean-Marie Lebel, a salesman at the used-car lot, was in the middle of the crossfire but got out unhurt.

He was showing Rouleau a car he bought Monday.

"He had paid us with $2,500 in bonds and was to take possession," said Lebel.

BEGAN TO RUN

"I walked with him over to the car. All of a sudden he started running."

"I didn't know what was going on. I turned and saw two policemen coming our way. They pulled out their guns and fired two shots at Rouleau. He pulled out his gun and fired twice at them."

OVER FENCE

Rouleau leaped a fence with the policemen after him.

An official of the car lot said police were called in after the company discovered the bonds were stolen.

FIVE YEARS

Rouleau, 30, was serving five years for attempted armed robbery when he broke out of penitentiary here last November.

Canada to Purchase Special UN Bonds

OTTAWA (CP)—The Canadian government will purchase $6,240,000 of the special $200,000,000 United Nations bond issue designed to offset the UN's deficit, it was announced Tuesday.

Finance Minister Fleming said the next session of Parliament will be asked to authorize Canadian participation in the loan, which will be for 25 years at the 2 per cent interest.

The announcement indicated Canada will be taking its share—and no more—of the bond issue, it said the Canadian share

Cigaret Ban Irks Flaming Youth

WINNIPEG (CP)—The Manitoba government has put up "no smoking" signs in its new office building because of girls with "those pretty fluffy sweaters" and "lately lacquered hairdos," a government official said Monday.

Elliott Wilson, deputy labor minister, said the signs were erected because a man with a cigarette could easily get too close to the girls and set them on fire.

"Really," exclaimed agriculture department employee Gail Morris, who uses hair spray. "I doubt if I'd catch fire."

Beauty salon operators also took a dim view of the ban.

"It's stupid," said one. "The only time hair spray is inflammable is if you light a match while using the spray. Once it's on your head it won't catch fire."

One male government employee said "Nonsense. We don't put our cigarettes out on their heads."

Bank Robbery Suspect Aboard Luxury Yacht

MONTREAL (CP)—Montreal police said yesterday Georges Lemay, 38, wanted in connection with a multi-million-dollar bank robbery on the Dominion Day weekend last summer, is believed to be aboard a luxury yacht somewhere off the Florida coast.

$400,000 Bail Set In Drug Net

Two men arrested in Victoria yesterday in the biggest narcotics roundup in B.C.'s history have been flown to Vancouver where bail of $400,000 was set for eight of 38 others named in a seven-foot-long indictment.

Up to late last night a total of 27 arrests had been made in connection with the case.

In Vancouver flying squads made up of a combined force of 40 city police and RCMP and one policeman had arrested 23 persons. Two more were in custody in Calgary.

BOTH NEWCOMERS

The men arrested in Victoria were identified as Donald Thompson and Barry Rushworth. RCMP said they were newcomers to the capital. No narcotics were found here.

Those arrested are charged with conspiring together to traffic in illegal drugs.

Two conspiracies are alleged.

The first, said Vancouver special prosecutor Russell Twining, involves 16 of the suspected traffickers already arrested and distribution of 48 pounds of pure heroin worth some $230,000 on the illicit narcotic market.

SMALLER RING

Seven suspected traffickers arrested so far are involved in a smaller ring said to have dealt in heroin caches ranging from 25 to 75 capsules each.

In addition to the conspiracy charges 25 persons have been accused of possession of drugs for the purpose of trafficking.

Most of the arrests took place at 7 a.m. yesterday in 20 widely scattered dwellings in the Greater Vancouver area.

$100,000 BAIL

Magistrate Gordon Scott set bail for Alexander Robert MacDonald, 42, a prospector, and Michael Petrowski, 42, a rooming house operator, at $100,000 each.

The prosecutor described the two as ring leaders in the major conspiracy, along with Ronald Edward Hill, 32, auto salesman, who did not ask for bail.

WIFE PLEADS

Hill's wife, Mary Eileen, 32, charged with him, had bail set at $10,000 after pleading: "We have a baby at home to look after."

Bail for John Pergosh Singh, 32, a trucker, was set at $50,000. The figure Mr. Twining asked for those in

Grits 'Greet' Argue

OTTAWA (CP)—Opposition leader Pearson said Tuesday he has had no discussions with Hazen Argue, House leader of the CCF-New Democratic Party group in Parliament, about Mr. Argue entering the Liberal fold.

He was asked at a press conference about reports that Mr. Argue had been approached by the Liberals. Mr. Argue, formerly national CCF leader, was defeated in a bid for the leadership of the NDP at last summer's founding convention of the NDP.

"The light is always in the intelligence and goodwill," Mr. Pearson said.

U.S. Pressure Charged

Holdup in Laos Aid Called Intolerable

VIENTIANE (Reuters)—A member of the right-wing Laotian government, Tuesday took a slap at the United States for "intolerable pressure" in holding up $400,000 in aid.

Finance Minister Phouangphet Phanarith hit out at the U.S. as a government announcement said a decision was likely today on whether Premier Prince Boua Oum would accept an invitation from the 14-power Laos conference to go to Geneva for talks on forming a coalition government.

The finance minister declared "intolerable pressure" was being put on the Vientiane government to turn away "from its duty and dignity."

His remarks were an obvious reference to the $400,000 the U.S. has been depositing that amount each month to guarantee convertibility of Laotian currency but the state department announced two days ago that January's cheque was being withheld temporarily.

Crack U.K. Group Now in Viet Nam

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A crack British anti-guerrilla mission has joined the American military group training South Viet Nam troops to fight Communist infiltration and terror, U.S. officials said yesterday.

The British mission is far smaller than the American one. It is headed by Brigadier R. G. K. Thompson, who took part in the lengthy but successful campaign to rid Malaya of Red terrorists.

At the same time, officials disclosed that U.S. military advisers and trainers are now operating with South Viet Nam battalions and eventually may be placed with company units.

San Diego Hockey Rumor Denied; Nothing Official on Ref Rhubarb

By LARRY ROSE

PORTLAND, Ore. (CP)—President Al Leader of the Western Hockey League says he has heard nothing of a rumor that a San Diego, Calif. group would pay $150,000 for a league franchise.

Leader made the statement to reporters here Tuesday night following a meeting of league directors where the matter had been expected to be discussed, at least informally.

He said he has not been approached by any one from San Diego, nor has he heard talk of any franchise bid being made in the near future.

Sources in close touch with the league said the San Diego group, which they did not identify, was prepared to have its franchise for a team in the league next season.

The California city was in professional hockey in 1949, but quit the old Pacific Coast League then because of poor facilities. The PCHL since has become the WHL and two California cities—San Francisco and Los Angeles—rejoined it this season after a 10-year absence.

Meanwhile, conflicting reports leaked from the one-day directors' meeting over fire works that had been expected as a result of recent protests about officiating at Portland Buckaroo home games.

General managers Bud Polte

of Edmonton Flyers and Roy McBride of Spokane Comets, claiming the crowds controlled the officials in Portland, had publicly protested the officiating here and had said they'd bring the matter up at the meeting.

Polte said the matter was discussed, but Leader said it was not dealt with and that no action is planned.

Leader generally avoids any public discussion where his game officials are concerned. Only two decisions of importance were announced.

The first saw San Francisco chosen as the site of the league's next annual meeting. The meeting will be held May 25 and 26.

Directors also gave Winnipeg formal permission to withdraw from the league. Winnipeg had suspended operations for the 1961-62 season because of poor attendance.

Winnipeg is said to be seeking a berth in the U.S. International Amateur League.

WHL playoff details were also announced Tuesday.

Teams finishing in second and third place in both the northern and southern divisions will play an inter-division best-of-three semi-final. Winner will meet the division's league champion in a best-of-seven final.

The two division winners will then play another best-of-seven series for the league championship.

Flyers Sell Comet Haley

PORTLAND, Ore. (CP)—Edmonton Flyers have sold forward Len (Comet) Haley to San Francisco Seals for cash and an option on an undrafted player.

The deal was made as executives of the league's eight teams gathered here for the WHL all-star game and a directors' meeting.

IT BEATS ME

By Jim Tang

TONY GUTOSKI, Tony Gutoski says, has retired from curling.

He said it as if he meant it, and if he did mean it curling in B.C. has lost one of its best shotmakers and skips. Tony still has his curling skills but ever since he reached his goal of playing in the Canadian championships it has been evident that he cared less and less for the mental strains of top competitive curling.

For Tony, the mental strain was more than for most. A high-strung type, he was never at his best unless his stomach was no queasy that he was always in danger of having to bolt off the ice.

During the past year, he has put on about 60 pounds, become a grandfather, mellowed a bit and developed an increasing liking for bridge.

"I've got my stomach in shape, and I'm going to keep it that way," he vows. "It just isn't worth it any more."

Any bets?

THINK IT OVER: "Golf," says pro star Gary Player in the January issue of Golf Digest, "teaches women qualities they don't learn in their duties as housewives. Well-meaning husbands should encourage their wives to spend more time at the game."

"On the course, a woman learns how to compete and accept victory and defeat. She learns to be patient and to control her emotions. These are lessons that will make a better mate and mother. She will suddenly become more sympathetic to hubby's golf problems. She might even understand when he leaves the lawn uncared for to play a round with the boys."

Player's plan is good, except for one thing. Will hubby understand when he finds his socks unattended and dinner always late?

A THINKER: It's a dull enough evening to pass on the story about the fellow who took his son, aged 10, to see his first major league baseball game.

The youngster grew more and more excited as the game went along, responding to the adulation the fans had for the big star. Suddenly, the lad spoke up, rather wistfully.

"Daddy," he said, "why aren't you somebody important like a ball player?"

Taken aback, but recovering quickly, the father replied, "Look son, I'll show you how important I am pretty soon."

As the teams changed sides in the seventh inning, he stood up and yelled, "Everybody in the park, stand up."

Everybody, of course, did—and Pop was back where Pop should be.

HOWE CLOSES IN: It's becoming increasingly evident that Maurice Richard's career record of 544 National Hockey League goals is likely to be broken by Gordie Howe before the big Detroit Red Wing has to call it a career.

As if in answer to those who believed he was shipping when he produced only 23 scoring shots last season, Howe has bounced back with one of his better seasons.

With 32 games left to play this season, Howe has scored 19 times to bring his lifetime total to 488 goals. He should come somewhere near the end of the 1963-64 season. But he has more time than that. He won't be 34 until next March, and there is no reason to believe he can't play as long as Richard, who was in his 34th year when he retired.

RANDOM HARVEST: One rumor going the rounds is that Jackie Parker is part of one of the two syndicates—the one with Normie Kwong as front man—which has offered to make a bid to purchase the B.C. Lions. Andy Bathgate is quite an important man to the New York Rangers. The veteran forward has scored 17 goals and made 37 assists this season, which means that he has figured in 45 per cent of the goals scored by his club.

Gordie Howe has figured in 43 per cent of the goals scored by Detroit Red Wings.

George Savelle, one-time "bad boy" of the Western Hockey League, is still chasing punks—leading the Saskatchewan Junior Hockey League in scoring. Jackie McLeod, another former WHL star, is playing-coach of Moose Jaw Firebirds in the same league—and also getting a lot of points.

West-end Canadians have plenty of good forwards but they may have lost another really good one go when they let Boston Bruins get CMT Pennington, a big centre with one of the hardest shots in the game. Pennington has eight goals and 23 assists to date and is one of the few bright things about his club this season. . . . A Victoria club is planning to play in an invitational rugby tournament set for Monterey, Calif., next spring. . . . And there is a report that the Victoria Shamrocks will back a junior lacrosse club this season, which would be a very good thing indeed.

GUINNESS DEPARTMENT: Toronto in tonight's NHL game and Portland and Spokane in tonight's WHL play. Batting average to date. At bat 11, hits 3, percentage .455.

One Move Was Good

Vancouver Canucks aren't going anywhere this Western Hockey League season but they did accomplish something when they traded Ron Hutchinson to Seattle Totems for Jim Baird.

The rookie forward scored three goals and assisted on another last night to help coach Phil Maloney lead the Canucks to one of their infrequent victories—5-2 over San Francisco Seals, another club with plenty of woes.

Baird's goals were his 24th, 25th and 26th of the season, tying him with Gerry Goyer for the league lead.

Maloney made the pass for each of Baird's goals and also scored himself as less than 1,000 Vancouver fans managed to pick a night that the Canucks were to win.

In last night's other game, Calgary Stampeders held on to sole possession of second place in the Northern Division by playing to a 2-2 tie with Seattle Totems before 2,341 fans.

Fine goaling by Al Millar, who made 38 stops, was a big factor in Totems saving a point.

Bryan Hextall's Son Up with New York

KITCHENER, Ont. (CP)—Jack Humphreys, general manager of Kitchener-Waterloo Beavers of the Eastern Professional Hockey League, said Tuesday New York Rangers of the National Hockey League have called up three forwards from his club.

Two others have been sent back down.

Humphreys, chief scout for Rangers, identified them as Dave Balon, Bryan Hextall and Mel Pearson.

Balon, 24, a left winger, is third in the EPHL scoring race. He is a native of Walkersville, Pa., and a graduate of Prince Albert (now Dauphin) of the Saskatchewan Junior Hockey League.

Pearson, 23, another left winger, played 23 games with Rangers in the 1959-60 season. He is from Pin Point, Man., where he played hockey for the Bombers of the SJHL. He is sixth in the EPHL standings.

Hextall, a 20-year-old centre, was with Brandon Wheat Kings of the Manitoba Junior Hockey League. His father, Bryan Hextall, is a former New York Rangers star who won the NHL scoring title in 1941-42.

Joan Ratelle and Rod Gilbert are rejoining the Beavers. Gilbert has been out of action this season following a back injury.

Comox MP Speaks Out:

'Puntledge Salmon Should Be Saved'

COURTENAY (Special)—"I feel that if satisfactory arrangements are not made in the near future, the Federal Minister of Fisheries should take steps to close the hydro developments on the Puntledge River until satisfactory measures have been taken to restore salmon runs in the river."

Those words, spoken by Harry McQuillan, MP for Comox-Alberni, brought a glow of encouragement to the executive of Save Our Salmon, the club formed here last year in an effort to do something about the hydro development which, sportsmen claim, have all but destroyed the salmon runs in the Puntledge River.

Mr. McQuillan met with the executive of SOS at a luncheon meeting on Monday.

He outlined his efforts to get some action which would end the destruction of salmon on the Puntledge.

"If it was private enterprise which was using the Puntledge for hydro development, there would be no difficulty in forcing compliance with the Federal Fisheries Act," he said.

"But it is a matter of the federal government versus the provincial government, and that makes it difficult."

He told the SOS executive that some of the work done on the Puntledge was done with out sanction of the federal department of fisheries.

"You," he said, "are doing a good job but there are many other fisheries problems in this area which could use the support of SOS and other similar organizations."

"It always comes down to the question of economics—which is more valuable, fish or power? If power can be shown to be more valuable, then the fish are allowed to be destroyed. I believe that some effort should be made to see if it is possible to have both."

Makowski in Right Place To Pace Independents' Win

Three unassisted goals by John Makowski, all accomplished while cruising around in front of goalkeeper Bev Beveridge, last night led the Independent Athletic Association to a 5-3 win over Navy in the first game of a Vancouver Island Hockey League double-header at Memorial Arena.

Defeat kept the Sailors from regaining second place from IAA, now a game and a half in front of the third-place club.

But it didn't cut deep the distance separating IAA from the leading Nanaimo club, which kept moving with a 5-2 decision over Bert Yessowick's winless Port Alberni entry.

Thrilling Win For MCC XV

BAGALORE (Reuters)—The Marylebone Cricket Club of England won one of the most exciting matches of its cricket tour of India here Monday when it beat South Zone by 37 runs with 40 minutes to spare.

Declaring its second innings at 192 for two, MCC set South Zone to get 254 in four and a half hours for victory—a rate of just over 56 an hour.

'Mask Tackle' Ruled Out

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—The National Football League adopted its first playing rule change in four years Tuesday in a safety move and approved, on an experimental basis, a new radio-controlled timing device.

The rule change, suggested by Baltimore Colts, will make it illegal for any player to grab the face mask of an opponent. Penalty will be 15 yards. In the past the ball carrier was the only player whose mask could be grabbed.

The new timing device in effect meets the players' request that the scoreboard clock be made official in timing games. Often there has been a discrepancy between the officials' watch and the clock on the field as to the exact number of seconds remaining. Even a few seconds can change the thinking of a quarterback at a crucial stage.

Cinder Nuisance Eliminated Soon

Most of Victoria's long-term cinder nuisance will be eliminated shortly.

Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow said last night.

"B.C. Forest Products has completed installation of a cinder collector and it now is in operation," he said.

LONG PLAGUE

"After a few adjustments it will eliminate most of the cinder nuisance which has plagued the city for many years."

Ald. Edgelow was releasing the text of a year-end report prepared by city smoke inspector Thomas Walker.

EXCEPT ONE

All mills and steam boiler plants in Victoria except one are meeting the requirements of the city's recently-adopted smoke bylaw.

The single exception — a single mill — is making improvements which will bring it within the terms of the bylaw.

Bull Theft Hearing Adjourned

A preliminary hearing of theft charges against two men charged with stealing a Hereford bull was adjourned to Jan. 18 for final argument by counsel.

Charged are Robert Simpson, 344 Niagara, and Hector Reid, Glen Lake.

The charges allege they stole the bull from the Sooker farm of William Smith. The hearing is being conducted in provincial police court by Magistrate A. I. Thomas.

Hospital Tax Issue Solved

LADYSMITH—Forty Ladysmith and Chemainus ratepayers have decided to adopt a new hospital taxation area, ending a lengthy controversy.

The area chosen at a hospital society meeting is identical to school district 67 and follows the southern boundary half way between the south end of Ladysmith and the north border of North Cowichan, Kuper, Tethis and Valdez Islands are excluded.

The new taxation area is necessary to finance an addition to Ladysmith hospital. Cost of the addition is estimated at more than $200,000 of which $100,000 will be paid by ratepayers in the new district.

Guilty Pleas

Two Young City Burglars Confess to 26 Charges

Threat with Pistol Described by Woman

Two youths charged with a total of 26 counts of breaking, entering, theft, possession of an offensive weapon and car theft entered pleas of guilty on all counts in court yesterday.

The pair—Herbert B. Newton, 16, of 2676 Foul Bay Road, and Bruce Burton, 17, 1719 Carrick—were remanded to Jan. 16 for sentence.

REPORT ASKED

Magistrate William Ostler has asked for a probation report on both.

Reading of charges against the pair occupied almost an entire day, through sessions of Oak Bay, Saanich and city police courts.

Newton and Burton were charged jointly with one breaking and entering count in Oak Bay, nine in the city and four in Saanich.

PISTOL CHARGE

Newton was also charged with one count of breaking and entering by Oak Bay police, three burglary counts, a car theft and possession of a pistol by city police and two more burglary counts by Saanich police.

DISCOVERED YOUTH

The court was told he used an empty .38-calibre pistol stolen in an earlier burglary to threaten a woman and her daughter who surprised him in the act of looting their home.

The pistol was stolen from the home of George Sanders, 2810 Shelbourne, Dec. 15.

On Dec. 30 Mrs. Margaret McCall, 1433 Denman, told police a youth she discovered in her home had threatened her and her daughter with a pistol.

City juvenile officer Norman Galbraith said Newton told the woman: "Back off or I'll shoot."

HELP GIVEN

He said the pistol was empty at the time and added: "On behalf of the boys... after they were apprehended, they did everything possible to help us recover what could be recovered and to assist us in any way they could," he said.

CHARGED JOINTLY

The pair are charged jointly with breaking into the following city homes: Dec. 19, 1510 Clavithorpe; Dec. 20, 1435 Denman (breaking and entering with intent to commit an indictable offence); 1600 Oaklands; Dec. 20, 3033 Cedar Hill; 2535 Kiwanis Way; 2840 Cook; 1427 Lang; 2840 Delatre; Jan. 6, 2561 Forbes.

OTHER HOMES

Newton was also charged with breaking into homes at 2810 Shelbourne (where the gun was stolen), 1612 Myrtle and 1528 Edgeware.

Oak Bay police charged them jointly with breaking into a home at 2066 Townley. Newton was also charged with breaking into 2022 Kings.

BREAKINGS LISTED

Joint charges laid by Saanich listed breakings at 3361 Veterans, 3121, 3225 and 3213 Service, all on Jan. 2. Newton was also charged with the Dec. 13 and 15 burglaries at 1901 Carnarvon and 1837 Kings.

The court was told a $1,000 calculator was stolen from the 3213 Service address. It was later recovered.

TREES TOPPLED

Police testified that most of the city burglaries were accompanied by acts of vandalism, with Christmas trees toppled, and milk, sugar and syrup scattered on living room carpets in the homes.

Less Vibration

Machine Grinds City Roads Flat

A city streets crew is using a heavy grinding machine to remove bumps from roads and minimize vibration of houses by passing buses.

The grinding of bumps and rerouting of two bus services are the main results of detailed soil vibration tests conducted throughout Victoria late last year.

BUS ROUTES

"On the whole, while some vibrations from heavy vehicles is inevitable—as was to be expected—the relative desirability of the bus routes finally selected is proven," said Michael Griffin, chairman of city traffic committee, said last night.

"But," he added, "the need to reduce uneven road surfaces to a minimum is important."

CHANGE IN ROUTE

Only change in route which the committee will recommend to the B.C. Electric affects Gonzales buses during the day-time and South Fairfield buses at night.

The two buses travel along Beechwood Avenue and Ald. Griffin's committee will suggest they be rerouted along Robertson Street.

"In locations where there is a naturally poor subsoil condition, there is substantial difference in the transmission of vibrations that would be caused by traffic."

"In all these cases, major impact caused by running a bus over a wooden block resulted in a very considerably increased effect... compared with the normal passage of the same vehicle."

Amalgamation of Greater Victoria will be one of the main items on the agenda of a meeting of the Greater Victoria intermunicipal committee on Jan. 23.

Scientific Airline Plays Crazy Numbers Game

Peter Bruton's NOTEBOOK

SO WHO'S CONFUSED: Under the heading "Northwest Airlines Numbering of Flights Has Hidden Meaning" comes a two-page press release which quotes an airlines vice-president as saying flight numbers are arrived at scientifically.

For example: "Flights in the area 11 to 49 are transcontinental flights between Seattle-Tacoma, Portland flights designated 50 through 69 are transcontinental flights with Portland-Seattle-Tacoma-Newark operation. Those in the 70s and 80s are also transcontinental but with the eastern terminus at Baltimore-Washington, D.C."

"Flights numbered in the 90s are cargo services, both domestic and overseas—Flight 999, for example, being the weekly DC-7CF freighter from New York and Chicago to Tokyo, via Seattle, Tacoma and Anchorage."

"Westbound flights have odd numbers and eastbound flights even. And the lower the digits following the route number, the earlier in the day the flight departs from its originating station."

"The numbering system makes the whole thing rather simple," the release ends.

Indeed it does.

For instance, assume you can remember all this and you suddenly find yourself aboard Flight 998. You immediately conclude: (1) that you left the Portland-Seattle-Tacoma-Newark operation (what ever that is); late in the day (too late, maybe); (2) that you are eastbound (or is it westbound); (3) that you are a piece of air freight; (4) that you are rather simple.

ODD BIRD OUT: A white albino robin was spotted yesterday by Mrs. Doris Roberts, 3890 Savannah.

Mrs. Roberts, who happens to be a bird fancier, said it was the first time she had ever seen such a bird. It remained in her backyard for half an hour or more and was pure white except for a red breast.

No, she wasn't seeing things.

Mrs. Doris Kittington and Miss Mary Matheson, who were visiting Mrs. Roberts at the time, confirmed her story.

REDUCED TO CLEAR: Maybe it's too late to do anything about it at this stage of the game, but it should be pointed out that Vancouver public relations man Bruce Williams had some pretty good ideas for centennial events but nobody around these parts seemed interested in hearing about them. Bruce now is doing all the publicity in B.C. for Seattle's Century 21 World Fair... Eastern papers now are taking a different view of the controversy between B.C. and Ottawa over the Columbia River development. Latest to switch around to the B.C. view of things is the Financial Post... In case you're wondering about that place on Fraser Street in the latest issue of Canada Month, I didn't write that first paragraph.

Rights Bill Fails Indians

VANCOUVER (CP) — The B.C. Court of Appeal decided Tuesday the Canadian Bill of Rights does not override the Indian Act.

The court dismissed an appeal by an Indian convicted of being in possession of liquor away from his reserve. The Indian, Harvey Gonzales of the North Shore reservation, was fined $10 in police court last year.

BILL CITED

The Bill of Rights was cited when the case was taken to the B.C. Supreme Court, where the conviction was upheld, and then to the Court of Appeal.

Appellate Justice C. W. Tysoe in a written judgment handed down Tuesday said:

APPLIED EQUALLY

"Equally before the law, as provided in the Bill of Rights, means the law as it exists shall be applied equally and without fear or favor to all persons to whom it applies."

PARTICULAR GROUP

He added Indians are a particular group who, by the Indian Act, have particular rights, privileges and disabilities. If the Bill of Rights does not affect their rights and privileges it cannot affect their disabilities, such as the law governing liquor.

HUGE BAIL FIXED IN DRUG ROUNDUP

Vicious Gunfight

Two Die In Hail Of Bullets

MONTREAL (CP)—An escaped convict and a provincial policeman were killed Tuesday in a vicious gun battle in Montreal's east end.

One city policeman was paralyzed by a bullet.

Convict Raymond Rouleau was buying a car at a used car lot when police approached to question him about bonds used to pay for the car.

BULLET IN APINE
Rouleau ran, and was cornered on a third-floor tenement balcony nearby. In the ensuing gunfight, Constable Roger Forbush, 28, a seven-year veteran of the provincial police, was fatally wounded and Montreal police Sergeant Jean-Paul Vincent was dropped by a bullet in the spine. Rouleau was hit by 16 bullets.

IN THE MIDDLE
Jean-Marie Lebel, a salesman at the used-car lot, was in the middle of the crossfire but got out unhurt.

He was showing Rouleau a car he bought Monday.

"He had paid us with $2,500 in bonds and was to take possession," said Lebel.

"I walked with him over to the car. All of a sudden he started running."

"I didn't know what was going on. I turned and saw two policemen coming our way. They pulled out their guns and fired two shots at Rouleau. He pulled out his gun and fired twice at them."

Rouleau leaped a fence with the policemen after him.

An official of the car lot said police were called in after the company discovered the bonds were stolen.

FIVE YEARS

Rouleau, 30, was serving five years for attempted armed robbery when he broke out of penitentiary here last November.

Man Stranded
On Mountain

KELOWNA (CP)—A bulldozer rescue crew was expected to reach microwave station technician Brian Heron about noon today on snow-covered Lantok Mountain, 28 miles west of Summerside, just about the time his supplies of apple juice and cookies run out.

Heron became stranded Monday after his snowmobile broke down. He tramped to the microwave station, where he took shelter.

Two men arrested in Victoria yesterday in the biggest narcotics roundup in B.C.'s history have been flown to Vancouver where bail of $400,000 was set for eight of 36 others named in a seven-foot-long indictment.

Up to late last night a total of 27 arrests had been made in connection with the case.

In Vancouver flying squads made up of a combined force of 40 city police and RCMP and one policeman had arrested 23 persons. Two more were in custody in Calgary.

BOTH NEWCOMERS

The men arrested in Victoria were identified as Donald Thompson and Barry Rushworth. RCMP said they were newcomers to the capital. No narcotics were found here.

Those arrested are charged with conspiring together to traffic in illegal drugs.

Two conspiracies are alleged.

The first, said Vancouver special prosecutor Russell Tinning, involves 16 of the suspected traffickers already arrested and distribution of 48 ounces of pure heroin worth some $250,000 on the illicit narcotic market.

SMALLER RING
Seven suspected traffickers arrested so far are involved in a smaller ring said to have dealt in heroin caches ranging from 25 to 75 capsules each.

In addition to the conspiracy charges 25 persons have been accused of possession of drugs for the purpose of trafficking.

Most of the arrests took place at 7 a.m. yesterday in 20 widely scattered dwellings in the Greater Vancouver area.

Magistrate Gordon Scott set bail for Alexander Robert MacDonald, 42, a prospector, and Michael Petrowski, 42, a rooming house operator, at $100,000 each.

The prosecutor described the two as king leaders in the major conspiracy, along with Ronald Edward Hill, 32, car salesman, who did not ask for bail.

WIFE PLEADS

Hill's wife, Mavis Elken, 32, charged with him, had bail set at $10,000 after pleading: "We have a baby at home to look after."

Bail for John Pergosh Singh, 32, a trucker, was set at $50,000, the figure Mr. Tinning asked for "those in

Crash Cuts Driver

Leonard Smith, 1223 Lyall, suffered a severe head cut and other injuries last night when his car went off Bay Street just west of Point Ellice Bridge and slammed into a stack of lumber.

Smith, alone in the car, was rushed to Royal Jubilee Hospital by city police, called by a passing motorist.

Front end of the car was smashed in by the lumber and a guy wire supporting a telephone pole which the car missed by inches.

Windshield was broken by the driver's head and the steering wheel was badly bent.

Near-Fatal Goof Admitted by U.S.

DUNOON, Scotland (UPI)—Capt. Richard Lanning, commander of the Polaris submarine supply boat Proteus, said yesterday "we made a goof" in throwing away a crate of detonators.

The explosives were found by a group of road workers and were nearly thrown on a fire the workmen had built to warm up. But one of the men read the label on the crate and police were notified.

"We made a goof, but it won't happen again," Capt. Lanning said. "We really don't know now if the crate got thrown out with the trash."

The Proteus is anchored in nearby Holy Loch.

Dat's A Secret

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Jimmy Durante refused Tuesday, even under oath, to reveal the identity of Mrs. Calabash.

For years on radio his sign-off was "and good night, Mrs. Calabash, wherever you are."

Tuesday the comedian was on the witness stand in superior court, testifying against two men charged with breaking into his home last July 2.

A lawyer jokingly asked on cross-examination, "who's Mrs. Calabash?"

"Dat's a secret," Durante replied.

Neither the lawyer nor the judge pressed the point.

Cigaret Ban Irks Flaming Youth

WINNIPEG (CP)—The Manitoba government has put up "no smoking" signs in its new office building because of girls with "those pretty fluffy sweaters" and "lovely lacquered hardos," a government official said Monday.

Elliott Wilson, deputy labor minister, said the signs were erected because a man with a cigarette could easily get too close to the girls and set them on fire.

"Really!" exclaimed agriculture department employee Gail Morris, who uses hair spray. "I doubt if I'd catch fire."

Beauty salon operators also took a dim view of the ban.

"It's stupid," said one. "The only time hair spray is inflammable is if you light a match while using the spray. Once it's on your head it won't catch fire."

One male government employee said: "Nonsense. We don't put our cigarettes out on their heads."

Bank Robbery Suspect Aboard Luxury Yacht

MONTREAL (CP)—Montreal police said yesterday Georges Lemay, 36, wanted in connection with a multi-million-dollar bank robbery on the Dominion Day weekend last summer, is believed to be aboard a luxury yacht somewhere off the Florida coast.

Rats Kill Baby

ST. JOHNS, Nfld. (UPI)—A six-month-old boy died yesterday as a result of rat bites he suffered on almost all parts of his body. Also bitten was his identical twin who is in hospital and listed in critical condition.

The babies, Johnny and Ronnie, are the sons of Mr. and Mrs. John O'Brien of St. John's. Officials were unable to determine which of the identical twins was dead.

VIENNA, Austria (AP)—The whereabouts of Vyacheslav Molotov was a mystery Tuesday night. Not even the Soviet foreign ministry seemed to know where he was.

"RESUMING POST"
That agency had announced Monday that Molotov was resuming his post as permanent Soviet representative to the International Atomic Energy agency in Vienna and probably left Moscow Saturday.

If he left Moscow Saturday, he should have arrived here Monday. Reporters and photographers meeting trains and planes for the last two days caught no trace of him, however.

CALL BACK
Adding to the puzzle, the Soviet foreign ministry in Moscow had two answers Tuesday to questions about its first report that Molotov supposedly left Saturday.

One was that he would be leaving next Friday or Saturday. The other was that further investigation was required and reporters would have to call back today.

BOUGHT TICKET
Unofficial Soviet sources in Moscow said Molotov had bought a ticket for the train that left Saturday and the foreign ministry reaffirmed that the old Stalinist definitely was coming back to Vienna.

In Jet Bomber Cockpit

Darling, Your Engine's on Fire

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Lt. Col. Henry Deuschendorf said his crew were bringing their eight-jet B-58 bomber down at Carswell Texas. Air Force base.

Suddenly a woman's low, husky voice whispered a warning in his ear. He looked and sure enough, two engines had flamed out.

His crew heard the warnings in time to trim the ship properly for the landing only minutes ahead. A possible accident was averted.

The voice came from a black box in the bomber's instrument panel.

The eight-pound box, a miniature tape recorder, was hooked up with the panel's system of warning lights. When the engines flamed out, the box began playing a recording of the voice of Gena Drizin, a pretty secretary in the Northrop Corporation plant where the box was made.

Why wasn't a man's voice used?

attention in a bomber cockpit.

The voice warning system is being installed in all B-58 bombers because pilot attention can be diverted from the panel lights by a number of emergencies. He may overlook visual signals but sets show pilot response to Gena's quiet tones is immediate.

'Copter Saves 28 Seamen

HALIFAX (CP)—Twenty-eight weary seamen taken off the freighter Suerie by helicopter collapsed into beds at a hotel here Tuesday night, almost 24 hours after the ship grounded on a coastal reef about 15 miles east of here.
